Car Leaves Road Near Civic Center

A 58-year-old Sonoma resident was killed yesterday about 5 p.m. when his northbound car veered off Highway 101 north of the Marin Civic Center, traveled diagonally down a 25-foot bank, and overturned.

The victim was Robert Samuel Danielson, retired San Francisco County deputy sheriff. Danielson was thrown from his car, but Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said it was not known, pending an autopsy, whether the car rolled over Danielson. He suffered head and other injuries.

The California Highway Patrol reported Danielson's car left the east edge of the highway about 300 feet north of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad overcrossing and landed upside down east of the crossing.

Fontaine said the car apparently hit a raised berm at the edge of the road at 55 to 60 miles an hour, veered back into the traffic lane, then plunged off the road when Danielson overcorrected.

Officers said there was no skid mark on the highway, but 200 feet of tire marks northeasterly along the the embankment.

Danielson, of 453 El Dorado Drive, Sonoma, was alone in the car. He was pronounced dead at 5:30 p.m. at Marin General Hospital.

Danielson was the 20th traffic fatality in Marin this year, compared to 14 on this date last year.

He is survived by his wife, Hazel Danielson, and a brother, Elmer O. Danielson, both of Sonoma. Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

U.N. Observers Now Between Egypt, Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The United Nations cease-fire teams began operating at 9 a.m. (PDT) today along the Suez Canal despite a series of last minute snags raised by Egyptian objections that Israeli moves might "legalize" the existing truce line. Norwegian Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of staff of the U. N. Truce Supervision Organization, radioed United Nations headquarters in New York that four U. S. observers were taking up positions on each side of the canal in the area where Israeli and Egyptian forces are concentrated.

The eight observers will be reinforced later by a permanent team of 25 observers once the recruiting has been completed and agreement reached on their nationalities.

The U. N. rushed the dispatch of observers to the scene after heavy weekend fighting between Israel and Egypt along the canal.

Diplomatic sources at the U. N. said Secretary General Thant sent a sharp note to Cairo during the weekend, protesting delay in permitting the observers to take the posts. The observers established headquarters at Ismailia about half way up the 107-mile canal and at El Qantara east of the canal in the northern portion. They will not act as a buffer force but will only observe the cease-

Prison Camp Rioting, Fire Leave 37 Dead

BERRYDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Rioting convicts deliberately set fire to their wooden barracks at a remote prison camp last night, touching off a sudden inferno that killed 37 of them.

Only 14 men escaped alive, and six of them were severely burned.

"I would guess they anticipated there would be some slight damage and it would cause some of them to be transferred," said Louie Wainwright, state prison director, who rushed to the little 51-prisoner camp in the Florida panhandle today.

The prisoners hurled their television set to the floor and broke out light fixtures before seting two fires at opposite ends of the barracks, Wainwright said.

Most of the bodies were found jammed into the shower room at the rear of the building. Others were found in heaps by the door—which Wainwright said was immediately unlocked—and by the barred windows.

"It started in a flash," Wainwright said. "The whole building was on fire almost momentarily."

"They used some strips of newspaper and toilet paper to start the fire in each end of the building," Wainwright said.

He insisted there were no racial implications in the disaster at the camp, which was all-Negro until 15 white prisoners were brought in two weeks ago.

At least one of the prisoners seen touching off the fire was killed in the holocaust, he said.

There were conflicting reports over whether the door to the barracks was opened immediately after the fire broke out, shortly after 10 p.m. EDT.

"The door was unlocked," Wainwright said, and "apparently they panicked." He said Guard A.O. Lovett unlocked the door and told the prisoners to come out.

Byrd Mapoles, a Milton, Fla., newsman, said a guard told him they had to go to the office of the camp in this remote Florida panhandle area to get the key and before them could get back, the "flames were already treetop high."

Three Persons Dead After Laos Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Royal Laotian government announced today three persons were killed and eight wounded in a Pathet Lao commando attack on Luang Trabang air field yesterday in which 10 of the Laitian Air Force's T-28 bombers were destroyed.

Officials said the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces had help from North Vietnamese.

Bay Commuters Find Other Ways To Get To The City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The anticipated traffic jams due to the railroad strike failed to develop today on San Francisco freeways.

Peak hour traffic from the San Francisco peninsula was reported only slightly more than normal.

About 12,000 Southern Pacific commuters as far south as San Jose had to find other means to reach their jobs in San Francisco.

A Southern Pacific spokesman said last night that efforts were being made to move some trains with perishable goods using supervisory crews. Most of these trains were moving east from California.

He said passenger service was about completely shut down.

Embargoes were put on most freight shipments earlier.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's regional office instituted emergey measures which would allow stalled freight to continue by truck. Regional Manager Ed Murphy said one of the first granted such on-the-spot authority was Pacific Motor Transport Co., a subsidiary of Southern Pacific.

In Southern California, three major railroads — the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe—closed down passenger operations yesterday, idling about 14,000 workers. The lines usually run 27 trains carrying about 5,500 passengers in and out of Los Angeles daily.

Rail Strike Threatens To Paralyze Country

Vietnam, Travelers, Mail Are Affected

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's biggest rail strike in 20 years virtually wiped out commuter service, cut ties between farm and market and partially blocked the flow of arms for Vietnam today.

"We're damned angry," said P. L. Siemiller, president of the International Machinists Assn. "We (the shopcraft unions) gave Congress a no-strike pledge, then they take a 10-day vacation and come back to a three-day-week."

"We're staffed and ready to talk, and we'd like to get to the bargaining table and get it settled. But the carriers aren't going to talk as long as they know Congress will bail them out," he said, referring to President Johnson's demand for legislation that would halt the strike.

Siemiller detailed the terms his union and the other unions want.

"We're getting an average of $3.04 an hour. Now that's at least 60 cents an hour less than the same type of skilled workers in other industries. . ." he said. "We've asked for a 6.5 per cent increase."

Siemiller said union demands also included a two-year contract. He said the carriers want a 5 per cent wage increase and a one-year contract.

CLOSES RAILROADS

The walkout by 137,000 shopcraft union workers completely shut down 30 railroads — virtually the nation's entire rail complex, with only scattered parts of New England and the South escaping the strike.

Nearly 400,000 commuters used to catching trains into New York City, Chicago and Philadelphia fought their way instead onto highways or simply checked into city hotels to wait out the dispute.

In Chicago, the traffic snarl was monumental. Three major expressway routes into the city were torn up for massive repairs and even before the rush hour began, officials had predicted the worst jam in the city's history.

AFFECTS WAR

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said the strike already had interrupted the weekly movement of 1,000 ammunition-carrying freight cars to the West Coast for trans-shipment to Vietnam, and called the stoppage effect on the war effort "immediate."

"Let's not kid ourselves—we have chaos," said Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd.

While some freights still rolled with perishables, hundreds more were shunted off the rails to icing and refrigeration points. The Southern Pacific Railroad rushed trucks to the

Anti-Strike Bill Expected From Congress

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed overwhelmingly and rushed to the House President Johnson's bill designed to get the railroads running again. It provides for a manratory settlement of the nation-wide dispute involving the shopcraft unions.

Washington (UPI) —Acting swiftly to stave off nationwide economic paralysis, Congress today tackled emergency legislation to halt the railroad strike. A bill was expected on President Johnson's desk before day's end.

The Senate started the legislative wheels rolling on a measure which would halt the walkout for 90 days and follow up, if necessary, with a form of compulsory arbitration until Jan. 1, 1969, in the dispute between six shopcraft unions and 95 per cent of the nation's rail carriers.

With movement of Vietnam war goods grinding to a halt and commuters choking non-rail transportation, Congress took matters out of the hands of a conferenc ecommittee considering previously passed anti-strike legislation.

BILL COMING

The Senate expected to whip the measure through with a minimum of delay—possibly in about two hours. It took up the measure about 9:40 a.m., PDT.

The House, which chopped out the compulsory arbitration provision the first time around, was expected to accept it now that the nation has been hit by the walkout.

The House mat at 9 a.m. PDT and quickly recessed to await Senate action. Before it did, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee said the shutdown was "choking and disrupting" supply lines to Vietnam.

Governor Pulling National Guard Out Of Newark; Trouble Spreads Elsewhere

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEWARK, N.J. — National Guardsmen and state troopers began withdrawing from riot-torn Newark today as Gov. Richard J. Hughes declared that five days and nights of "rioting and looting are apparently over, and the violence has ceased."

The bloody rampage resulted in 24 deaths, 1,100 injured, the arrest of 1,300 and property damage and riot costs of more than $5 million.

All told, 5,000 guardsmen and 300 troopers had been brought in by the governor to supplement Newark's 1,400-member police force.

Hughes told a news conference "the withdrawal would be accomplished by this evening." He indicated that a small replacement force would be sent here.

The governor said "sniper shooting is so sporadic that it is grinding to a halt," and he considered the security cleanup a local police matter.

Many businesses in Newark closed today at the request of the governor, idling thousands. However, banks — particularly in the central city — and major department stores were open, though customers were few.

Newark started immediate efforts to return to normalcy, with major attention to hauling away piles of rotting garbage and debris. Collections were halted Thursday after the first night of rioting.

During the night, the Negro guerrilla fighting spread to nearby Plainfield where two days of smouldering disturbances exploded and National Guardsmen for the first time rushed to help overwhelmed Plainfield police.

Negroes shot and killed a policeman, swarmed through the streets on a burning, looting binge and barricaded themselves in a downtown area with rifles and submachine guns.

At least nine persons were wounded by gunfire. One car with a white woman and a man in it drove a gunfire gauntlet and was riddled with 17 bullets as it

U.S. Bombers Avenge Reds' Weekend Raids

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States, stung by weekend Communist successes, hit back with the full fury of its air and sea power. B-52 bombers hit the Communists with five raids last night and today, dropping a million pounds of bombs.

U.S. Marine fliers hit Communist artillery in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), hoping to silence the big guns which have lashed Leatherneck positions for days. Ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet moved in close to shore to bombard the Red guns.

A spokesman disclosed the carrier USS Oriskany returned to duty on Yankee Station on July 14, almost nine months after a disastrous fire ripped through her and killed 44 officers and men and injured 16. The Oriskany joined in the 100 missions flown against the north yesterday.

Pilots from the Oriskany damaged two Communist patrol boats and destroyed a railroad bridge 35 miles south of Hanoi.

In the five B-52 raids the huge Stratofortresses hit North Vietnamese Army and Viet Cong units from the Da Nang area to the outskirts of Saigon. Targets included Communist build-ups in the Central Highlands.

Exact tonnage dropped was kept secret but from three to seven planes take part in each raid and each plane is capable of carrying 60,000 pounds of bombs.

U.S. Navy and Air Force jets streaked over North Vietnam yesterday in 100 missions. The number was limited by poor weather. Spoksmen said they concentrated on the southermost seaport city of Dong Hoi, triggering at least 20 oil dump fires that sent black smoke churning up 1,500 feet.

Jet Tanker Crashes, Burns At Air Base

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—A KC-135 jet tanker crashed at Offutt Air Force Base, headquarters for the Strategic Air Command, today. At least one person was killed.

Several ambulances were rushed to the scene. There was no immediate indication of how many persons might have been killed or injured. The plane was believed to be carrying a crew of five.

A spokesman at the Omaha radar approach control office said the craft appeared to tip to one side as it cleared the end of the runway.

One witness said the plane appeared to explode before it hit the ground.

About 12,000 Southern Pacific commuters as far south as San Jose had to find other means to reach their jobs in San Francisco.

A Southern Pacific spokesman said last night that efforts were being made to move some trains with perishable goods using supervisory crews. Most of these trains were moving east from California.

He said passenger service was about completely shut down.

Embargoes were put on most freight shipments earlier.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's regional office instituted emergey measures which would allow stalled freight to continue by truck. Regional Manager Ed Murphy said one of the first granted such on-the-spot authority was Pacific Motor Transport Co., a subsidiary of Southern Pacific.

In Southern California, three major railroads — the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe—closed down passenger operations yesterday, idling about 14,000 workers. The lines usually run 27 trains carrying about 5,500 passengers in and out of Los Angeles daily.

Fire Bombing, Bullets Mark Fresno Riot

FRESO (AP) — Relative calm returned to West Fresno today but the ruins of a lumber company still smoldered, police were standing by and an anti-poverty official was recuperating from a gunshot wound.

The violence began early yesterday, when gangs of young Negroes began hit and run vandalism. Two fire bombs started small blazes in West Fresno, a predominantly Negro section, and on the downtown mall. Damage ran to about $2,500. Four store windows were smashed.

During the daylight hours yesterday, Negro community leaders sat down with Mayor Floyd Hyde to discuss methods of avoiding further incidents.

YOUTHS CONVERGE

Dennis Mathis, 28, of Fresno, director of the community's federally-financed program to provide employment for young jobless persons in economically depressed areas, was wounded as he walked away from the meeting with the mayor.

Police said the bullet was fired by Spencer Carter, 66, of Fresno, a private policeman for merchants. Mathis was struck in the right arm and side. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Fresno General Hospital. Carter is a Negro.

Carter told city police he thought Mathis threw a bottle at him. He was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

SIX ARRESTED

Six other persons were arrested as the vandalism and fire bombing continued yesterday.

The largest fire was a huge blaze that caused extensive damage to a lumber yard in the southwest sector of the city. City and county fire crews still were on the lines mopping up after the fire after dawn today.

The trouble came only three days after 300 jobless Negro youths stormed a meeting of the Fresno County Economic Opportunities Commission demanding jobs.

The youths said they wanted work, not welfare, but that the program Mathis administers will provide work for only 100 persons, while there are 1,200 applications for work on file with local anti-poverty agencies.

Surveyor Silent; Explosion Feared

PASADENA (UPI) — An explosion may have destroyed America's Surveyor 4 robot spacecraft last night only seconds before it was to have soft-landed in the central bay region of the moon.

A Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman today said the "explosion theory" was the most "likely" explanation of why radio contact with earth was lost when the vehicle was seven miles above the moon and traveling at 300 miles an hour.

Program Manager Howard Haglund said the possibility of an explosion "is uppermost in my mind."

A JPL official said the spacecraft had properly positioned itself for a landing and that its powerful braking rocket ignited on schedule about 52 miles above the lunar surface. The rocket's job was to slow Surveyor 4's speed from about 6,000 miles an hour to a descent at about 250 miles an hour.

The rocket operated normally for 40 seconds, the scientist said, but then all radio contact with the craft was lost—two seconds before the braking rocket was to burn out.

Surveyor 4 was scheduled to make its landing at 7:05 p.m. PDT, then take television photographs for transmission to earth and also sample the lunar soil with is small power shovel.

Haglund said engineers at JPL's Goldstone tracking station on California's Mojave Desert would resume this evening attempts to reestablish contact with the spacecraft.

Voters Readying Decisions On McAteer Successor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Campaigning winds up today in San Francisco's special primary election to choose a successor to the late Sen. J. Eugene McAteer.

Registrar of Voters Basil Healey, on the basis of a very heavy absentee ballot, predicts that more than 75 per cent of the voters my cast ballots in the crucial special election tomorrow.

The three candidates, all proven vote-getters, include Municipal Judge Milton Marks, a Republican, and Assemblyman John L. Burton and Supervisor William C. Blake, both Democrats.

There are now 20 Democrats and 19 Republicans in the state Senate and a GOP victory would make it 20-20 and give GOP Lt. Gov. Robert Finch the tie-breaking vote.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has endorsed Judge Marks, showing his willingness to risk his prestige in heavily-Democratic San Francisco in hopes of winning control of the state senate for his party.

Voters are not required to cast their ballots by party registration. If any candidate receives a majority of all votes cast, he will be elected. If not, there will be a run-off election Aug. 15 between the top Republican and Democrat.

Allied Summit Meeting Set For Bangkok

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand said today the government chiefs of the seven allied nations fighting the Communists in Vietnam would hold a summit meeting in Bangkok in October.

Thanom said the meeting would be preceded by a foreign ministers' conference in Saigon. He said the actual dates had not been fixed.

The Bangkok summit would be the second among the leaders of the United States, Thailand, South Vietnam, the Philippines, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand. The first was held in Ooctober, 1966, in Manila.

The foreign ministers of the allied countries met informally in Washington in April after the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization ministerial meeting.

In Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese officials said they were not aware of any specific plan to hold a meeting in Bangkok, but they did not rule out the possibility. They noted that President Johnson recently said there would be an allied summit meeting in the fall, but he did not say when or where.

A Foreign Office spokesman in Manila said the Philippines government had no knowledge of a summit meeting as yet. President Ferdinand E. Marcos, during a surprise visit to Filipino troops in Vietnam yesterday, was asked by a reporter about the possibility of a summit conference and he replied there were no plans for one at the moment.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Multinational Armada Favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The NATO military committee has recommended a multinational naval force for the North Atlantic alliance, Pentagon sources say.

The small force, numbering perhaps a half dozen destroyers or other warships, would be somewhat similar to a NATO brigade-size mobile land force in existence for almost six years.

Member nations would contribute ships manned wholly by their own crews. There would be no mixed nationality manning of ships.

The United States was understood to be noncommittal on the idea, even though the proposal reportedly was suggested by U. S. Adm. Thomas Moorer.

Sources said Moorer acted in his capacity as Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic, a job he will leave soon to become chief of naval operations, heading the U.S. Navy.

The main reason for a multinational force would be to have a NATO naval presence, though small, ready to move in an emergency and, perhaps equally important, demonstrate solidarity and unity among the sometimes differing allies.

From a tactical military standpoint, it is believed the force, with a permanent staff, would give opportunities for valuable training in multinational operations at sea.

There has been one experimental in multinational naval activity under NATO.

This involved the staffing of a U.S. destroyer, the Ricketts, with sailors from a number of NATO navies to find out how they would work and live together.

Even in July, Cadillac is the newest car you can buy.

With all of its richness and elegance, superb comfort and truly exceptional driving qualities—the current Cadillac is always, regardless of year or season, the newest car you can buy. This is indisputably true of the 1967 Standard of the World. Cadillac's highly advanced engineering, exemplified both by the front-wheel-drive Fleetwood Eldorado and the eleven other exciting Cadillac models, still remains years ahead of its time. In terms of handling ease and quiet performance, no other car is the equal of the world's most sought-after luxury automobile. There's also Cadillac's tasteful, evolutionary styling . . . a significant reason why Cadillacs of all ages are recognized as Cadillacs regardless of their year of manufacture. And testifying to this almost timeless appeal is Cadillac's remarkably high resale value. Two- and three-year-old Cadillacs—and even some of the earlier models—are in greater demand than many other automobiles that are presently in production. So visit your authorized Cadillac dealer at your very first opportunity. You'll quickly discover that there's nothing newer than a new Cadillac.

College Ready To Set Budget, Hold Taxes

The Marin Junior College District board may adopt a publication budget of about $3,510,834 tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Room G1 of the physical education complex.

Business Director Norman Bird said no change is expected in last year's tax rate of 77 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Last year's budget totaled $3,439,395 and the district collected $1,649,097 from property taxes. The total expected from property taxes this year is $1,295,000, as assessed valuation is expected to increase by 10.5 per cent, according to Bird.

The board will consider administrative salaries for the 1967-68 school year.

Five bids were taken Thursday for construction and landscaping work around the fine arts building and central mall, estimated to cost $68,400. Apparent low bidder was A and J Shooter Inc. of San Rafael at $69,203. The board may award a contract.

The board may call for bids on an estimated $8,000 demolition of buildings at 20 Laurel Avenue and at 1041 and 1043 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard; on equipment for the new fine arts building, estimated at $170,000; on custodial supplies, estimated at $7,500 and on equipment for the duplicating center estimated at $39,000.

Representatives of Management and Economics Research Inc. will report of progress of a study on the district's future needs.

Stray Leopard's Keeper Lands In Law's Toils

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Lucretia the Leopard may still be at large in the Hunters Point area, but her keeper has been snared by the law.

Thomas Brown goes to court today for assertedly giving misinformation to the police. In an effort to duck publicity over Lucretia's escape last week, officers said, he falsely reported that the 50-pound leopard is back with her owner, Sharon Wilson, 18.

Brown had been keeping the 6-month-old cat in his basement after Miss Wilson's mother objected to having it around the house.

That set police to running a check on Brown and they found a warrant for his arrest on petty theft and a $34 traffic fine.

Sierra Club Asks Johnson To Change Redwood Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Sierra Club urged the Johnson administration again today to switch support to the Redwood Creek area for the proposed Redwood National Park.

Federal officials favor the 43,000 acres site on Mill Creek in Del Norte County. The Sierra Club endorsed the 90,000 acre region in Humboldt County.

In full page newspaper advertisements published in San Francisco and New York, the Sierra Club said to President Johnson: "There is one great forest of redwoods left on earth; but the one you are trying to save isn't it."

Dr. Edgar Wayburn, president of the club, also said his organization will not oppose swapping federal and state lands to establish a national park.

Tax Shift To Wealthy, Large Firms Proposed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Two freshman Democratic assemblymen today proposed a $964 million substitute for Gov. Ronald Reagan's $1 billion tax program which would shift more of the burden to oil companies, banks, corporations, liquor, horse racing and high bracket incomes.

Chances of adoption appeared very slim.

Assemblymen Alan Sieroty, Beverly Hills, and John F. Dunlap, Napa, said their program would be offered as an amendment to the governor's tax bill when the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee opens hearings tomorrow night.

The Sieroty - Dunlap plan would provide a $35 income tax credit in lieu of property tax relief to all individuals living in a home they own or are buying regardless of the value of the home or the amount of property tax they pay. It would provide no property tax relief for business property.

Fourteen Democratic lawmakers joined Sieroty and Dunlap in offering the proposal. Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, was not among them. Unruh predicted Reagan's program will be cut by $50 million or more but will pass without major change.

The Sieroty - Dunlap plan would increase the bank and corporation tax by 2.5 percentage points, 1 point more than Reagan's bill. I would impose a 2 per cent oil severance tax, a levy not in the administration plan. It would boost liquor taxes 75 cents a gallon, the amount Reagan requested but 25 cents more than the Senate approved.

The Democratic plan would raise $401 million from personal income tax, about $75 million more than the Reagan measure. But it would increase the sales tax by only one-half cent instead of 1 cent on the dollar.

Sieroty said for an individual earning $8,500 a year, his plan would increase the total tax bite $20 a year. Under the administration plan, the increase for the same person would be $60, he said.

The governor's bill was set for a 7:45 p.m. hearing tomorrow by the Assembly Revenue day by the Assembly Revenu and Taxation Committee.

Congo Fight Strengthens President

KINSHASA, The Congo (UPI) —President Joseph D. Mobutu emerged today stronger from the rebellion by white mercenaries than before the fighting broke out July 5, according to diplomats.

Less than 200 mercenaries, all on the run, were all that remained of the uprising in Eastern Congo towns that threatened for a time to plunge the Congo into another round of chaos and bloodshed.

Mobutu's Congo Army chased the mercenaries through the rugged African bush country north of Kisangani and their chances of escape across the Congo border appeared dim.

Diplomatic sources said Mobutu used the rebellion to bolster his strength as the Congo's chief of state. For one thing, the sources pointed out that Mobutu had kept control of the Army and it had obeyed his instructions—a measure of discipline Congolese presidents have not always enjoyed.

Some Congolese soldiers killed and raped some Europeans in the aftermath of fighting. But such violence was at a level far below what some past rebellions have experienced. Mobutu's government deplored such violence and issued warnings to soldiers to treat foreigners humanely.

Mobutu even held up an attack for several days on the last rebel stronghold at Kisangani because of his concern for a number of European and American hostages being held by the rebels. The hostages were all flown out safely by Red Cross planes after the mercenaries fled Kisangani.

Youth Arrested On Dope Charge

He remained in jail this morning in lieu of $2,000 bail.

San Rafael police said Allen was arrested after threatening to kill his parents and "the first cop to come through the door." He had to be forcefully subdued by arresting officers, who said they found two hypodermic needles, syringes, and spoons with scorch marks in his room.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science discovered a medication with the ability, in most cases—to actually shrink hemorrhoids and promptly stop the burning itch and relieve pain.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain and itching were promptly relieved. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated piles.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all done without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® —an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! Preparation H also lubricates to make bowel movements less painful, it soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in both ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

College Ready To Set Budget, Hold Taxes

The Marin Junior College District board may adopt a publication budget of about $3,510,834 tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Room G1 of the physical education complex.

Business Director Norman Bird said no change is expected in last year's tax rate of 77 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Last year's budget totaled $3,439,395 and the district collected $1,649,097 from property taxes. The total expected from property taxes this year is $1,295,000, as assessed valuation is expected to increase by 10.5 per cent, according to Bird.

The board will consider administrative salaries for the 1967-68 school year.

Five bids were taken Thursday for construction and landscaping work around the fine arts building and central mall, estimated to cost $68,400. Apparent low bidder was A and J Shooter Inc. of San Rafael at $69,203. The board may award a contract.

The board may call for bids on an estimated $8,000 demolition of buildings at 20 Laurel Avenue and at 1041 and 1043 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard; on equipment for the new fine arts building, estimated at $170,000; on custodial supplies, estimated at $7,500 and on equipment for the duplicating center estimated at $39,000.

Representatives of Management and Economics Research Inc. will report of progress of a study on the district's future needs.

Stray Leopard's Keeper Lands In Law's Toils

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Lucretia the Leopard may still be at large in the Hunters Point area, but her keeper has been snared by the law.

Thomas Brown goes to court today for assertedly giving misinformation to the police. In an effort to duck publicity over Lucretia's escape last week, officers said, he falsely reported that the 50-pound leopard is back with her owner, Sharon Wilson, 18.

Brown had been keeping the 6-month-old cat in his basement after Miss Wilson's mother objected to having it around the house.

That set police to running a check on Brown and they found a warrant for his arrest on petty theft and a $34 traffic fine.

Sierra Club Asks Johnson To Change Redwood Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Sierra Club urged the Johnson administration again today to switch support to the Redwood Creek area for the proposed Redwood National Park.

Federal officials favor the 43,000 acres site on Mill Creek in Del Norte County. The Sierra Club endorsed the 90,000 acre region in Humboldt County.

In full page newspaper advertisements published in San Francisco and New York, the Sierra Club said to President Johnson: "There is one great forest of redwoods left on earth; but the one you are trying to save isn't it."

Dr. Edgar Wayburn, president of the club, also said his organization will not oppose swapping federal and state lands to establish a national park.

CONGRESS

risking their lives if we do not take action to end the strike and end it today."

Prior to congressional action, Chairman Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., told newsmen that the shutdown was both a strike and a lockout by the carriers—a charge vigorously denied by rail officials.

House-Senate negotiators had gotten nowhere in efforts to resolve differences between the anti-strike bills passed previously by the two houses.

"We have had a year of talk," said Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill. "It's time for action,"

Dirksen and other Republican and Democratic congressional leaders met with the President and Cabinet members at the White House yesterday and promised to press for swift passage of a measure to force railroad employes back to work.

Johnson told the legislators he had exhausted all administration remedies under the law to prevent a strike and it was now up to Congress to act.

Two months ago, the Senate passed Johnson's proposal under which the six shopcraft unions and the railroads would negotiate with federal mediators for 90 days. If no agreement were reached, the unions would be required to continue working until Jan. 1, 1969, under terms of a new contract dictated by a special mediation board.

But the House rejected the compulsory settlement clause and approved only an additional 90-day bargaining period, during which a strike would be banned. Congress already had voted twice to bar a rails strike, first for 20 days and then for 47 days, ending June 19.

RAILS

San Fernando Valley and to Yuma, Ariz., to have the canteloupe harvest. Officials worried about how to feed stranded livestock.

The nation's mail was affected. Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien announced a general moratorium on second, third and fourth class mail to designations more than 150 miles from the mailing point. O'Brien asked that first class and air mail be used only when absolutely necessary.

General Motors, the largest corporation in the world, said it may begin closing its assembly plants tomorrow unless the strike is settled. Ford Motor Co. said it was possible that it could keep in operation through the week, but it would have to close seven assembly plants if the strike continues into next week.

The strike gathered momentum yesterday, spreading from west to east and south as railroad men at yards and terminals along the nation's 216,000 miles of track moved trains to sidings, slammed down ticket windows and traded oil cans and wrenches for picket signs.

The work stoppages began after the expiration at midnight yesterday of an agreement between the six unions and Congress. Only the International Assn. of Machinists issued a strike call, but union men said they felt free to walk out after a year of wage disagreements and fruitless bargaining.

The stoppage, which the Department of Transportation estimated would cover about 80 per cent of the nation's rail lines, was the most widespread since 1946. A three-day strike of engineers and trainmen completely shut down the industry then.

As the walkout spread, some trains just gave up. The Union Pacific's westbound "City of Portland" ground to a halt in Hinkle, Ore., 14 hours after the strike began. Most of the 22 passengers continued on by bus, but one woman paid $75 for a taxi to Portland. Her train ticket over the same distance cost $5.59.

Passengers on the Santa Fe's Chicago-to-Los Angeles "Super Chief" were thrown from their seats when it swept around a curve too quickly in Kansas. A ticket agent said supervisors were running the streamliner.

Residents of North Platte, Neb., offered a tour of their city to 300 passengers on a train to Los Angeles halted by their walkout. In Milwaukee, the naval shore patrol hired five buses to move men on liberty to nearby Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

careened wildly down the street. The woman was shot in the leg.

Plainfield Mayor George F. Hetfield said today he had evidence that the trouble in his city was "planned insurrection sparked by the events in Newark." He refused to disclose the evidence.

He ordered all liquor stores, taverns and clubs closed and a 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. curfew imposed as Gov. Richard J. Hughes had ordered in Newark.

Other racial violence erupted during the night in Jersey City and Montclair. Mobs of Negro youths broke windows, threw firebombs and hurled bricks and bottles at police and firemen.

At a pre-dawn news conference, Hughes said he was "shocked and surprised" by the Plainfield violence. But he said police and National Guard troops would handle the situation and warned he would deal just as toughly with white vigilante groups he has heard were forming.

"The worst thing that could happen here would be to create a conflict between black and white," he said.

His first book, "The True Believer," was published 16 years ago. It has sold 500,000 copies and is required reading at Harvard University. Three other Hoffer books also have been published.

fire and report on violations.

Egypt announced it will consider any attempt by Israel to sail boats in the canal a violation of the cease-fire and will regard it as an effort to cross the canal and invade Egypt proper.

Previously Egypt was reported objecting to a U.N. request that truce observers on each side of the canal be allowed to talk to the other by radio telephone. Egypt considered this de facto acceptance of the canal as a truce line.

The Egyptian objections came as President Gamal Abdel Nasser wound up a series of talks with four of the more militantly anti-Israel heads of state in Cairo. There was no sign of compromise and observers believed they would turn to Moscow for even more military aid.

The five Arab leaders were Nasser, Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, Iraqi President Abdel Rahman Aref, President Noureddin Atassi of Syria and President Ismail Alazhari of the Sudan.

An announcement said the five had agreed to take "necessary effective measures to eliminate the consequences of imperialist and Israeli aggression in the Arab homeland."

This was a revival of previous Arab charges that Britain and the United States were in collusion with Israel in the Middle East conflict.

In savage Saturday fighting on the 110-mile-long front, Israel reported shooting down six Egyptian planes and losing one herself. At Cairo UAR authorities said Israel suffered the loss of 10 planes, an entire fire artillery regiment and a rocket launcher unit. careened wildly down the street. The woman was shot in the leg.

Plainfield Mayor George F. Hetfield said today he had evidence that the trouble in his city was "planned insurrection sparked by the events in Newark." He refused to disclose the evidence.

He ordered all liquor stores, taverns and clubs closed and a 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. curfew imposed as Gov. Richard J. Hughes had ordered in Newark.

Other racial violence erupted during the night in Jersey City and Montclair. Mobs of Negro youths broke windows, threw firebombs and hurled bricks and bottles at police and firemen.

At a pre-dawn news conference, Hughes said he was "shocked and surprised" by the Plainfield violence. But he said police and National Guard troops would handle the situation and warned he would deal just as toughly with white vigilante groups he has heard were forming.

"The worst thing that could happen here would be to create a conflict between black and white," he said.

Author Hoffer Leaves Dock Job For Retirement

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eric Hoffer, 64, the self-educated stevedor whose potent pen has won wide acclaim, has loaded his last vessel on the San Francisco docks.

"I don't expect retirement to change my life," the author and lecturer said. "I'm a longshoreman who wrote some books. That's all. If I wrote a million words, I wouldn't change.

Hoffer went to work on the San Francisco watefront in 1945 after supporting himself with a wide range of jobs. He said while his fellow workers went boating or built summer homes in their spare time, he began writing books.

His first book, "The True Believer," was published 16 years ago. It has sold 500,000 copies and is required reading at Harvard University. Three other Hoffer books also have been published.

risking their lives if we do not take action to end the strike and end it today."

Prior to congressional action, Chairman Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., told newsmen that the shutdown was both a strike and a lockout by the carriers—a charge vigorously denied by rail officials.

House-Senate negotiators had gotten nowhere in efforts to resolve differences between the anti-strike bills passed previously by the two houses.

"We have had a year of talk," said Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill. "It's time for action."

Dirksen and other Republican and Democratic congressional leaders met with the President and Cabinet members at the White House yesterday and promised to press for swift passage of a measure to force railroad employes back to work.

Johnson told the legislators he had exhausted all administration remedies under the law to prevent a strike and it was now up to Congress to act.

Two months ago, the Senate passed Johnson's proposal under which the six shopcraft unions and the railroads would negotiate with federal mediators for 90 days. If no agreement were reached, the unions would be required to continue working until Jan. 1, 1969, under terms of a new contract dictated by a special mediation board.

But the House rejected the compulsory settlement clause and approved only an additional 90-day bargaining period, during which a strike would be banned. Congress already had voted twice to bar a rails strike, first for 20 days and then for 47 days, ending June 19.

RAILS

San Fernando Valley and to Yuma, Ariz., to have the canteloupe harvest. Officials worried about how to feed stranded livestock.

The nation's mail was affected. Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien announced a general moratorium on second, third and fourth class mail to designations more than 150 miles from the mailing point. O'Brien asked that first class and air mail be used only when absolutely necessary.

General Motors, the largest corporation in the world, said it may begin closing its assembly plants tomorrow unless the strike is settled. Ford Motor Co. said it was possible that it could keep in operation through the week, but it would have to close seven assembly plants if the strike continues into next week.

The strike gathered momentum yesterday, spreading from west to east and south as railroad men at yards and terminals along the nation's 216,000 miles of track moved trains to sidings, slammed down ticket windows and traded oil cans and wrenches for picket signs.

The work stoppages began after the expiration at midnight yesterday of an agreement between the six unions and Congress. Only the International Assn. of Machinists issued a strike call, but union men said they felt free to walk out after a year of wage disagreements and fruitless bargaining.

The stoppage, which the Department of Transportation estimated would cover about 80 per cent of the nation's rail lines, was the most widespread since 1946. A three-day strike of engineers and trainmen completely shut down the industry then.

As the walkout spread, some trains just gave up. The Union Pacific's westbound "City of Portland" ground to a halt in Hinkle, Ore., 14 hours after the strike began. Most of the 22 passengers continued on by bus, but one woman paid $75 for a taxi to Portland. Her train ticket over the same distance cost $5.59.

Passengers on the Santa Fe's Chicago-to-Los Angeles "Super Chief" were thrown from their seats when it swept around a curve too quickly in Kansas. A ticket agent said supervisors were running the streamliner.

Residents of North Platte, Neb., offered a tour of their city to 300 passengers on a train to Los Angeles halted by their walkout. In Milwaukee, the naval shore patrol hired five buses to move men on liberty to nearby Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Percy Digs Hippies In Visit To Haight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—What happens when a millionaire senator who could some day be president meets one of San Francisco's flower children?

They share a piece of bread together.

Republican Charles H. Percy addressed the final session of the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors over the weekend.

But first he took an anonymous stroll down Haight Street—heart of San Francisco's hippieland. He said he walked through the area because "the understanding of culture is part of a politician's life."

"This young man offered me a piece of bread," Percy said later, "and I was happy to share it with him. Sharing bread is his way of finding happiness."

Percy said Hippies were anxious to tell him why they want to "rebel against conformity."

"This generation is against a society that has the power to destroy itself and situations like Vietnam, where innocent people on both sides are hurt," he said.

"Each generation has its own way of manifesting itself to differentiate from the past. Mine had panty raids and swallowed goldfish."

Percy also said he was impressed by the fact that those he talked to seem to have a good IQ.

"I said to them 'If you feel this way, who don't you take your feelings out into society instead of living together?'

"They couldn't quite answer that except to say they found more comfort among themselves."

When he arrived at the conference, Percy carried two hippie newspapers, printed in their vivid psychedelic colors—under his arm. He said he would take them home to his family.

The Haight-Ashbury newspapers are outspoken in the position that marijuana should be legalized and Percy at least went along with them in indicating he felt marijuana legal penalties were now too harsh.

He said of imprisonment for illegal use of the drug that "this possibly might be somewhat excessive. I understand it is not addictive. It doesn't create violence . . . you have to temper punishment."

No Peace Expected Soon In Copper Mine Strike

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI)—The nation's copper production was almost at a standstill today and striking workers looked forward to a "long, hungry summer."

About 37,000 workers at mines, mills smelters and refiners of the four major producers and several small companies walked off the job Saturday in a dispute over wages. Federal mediators yesterday conceded that they could see no quick end to the dispute, which involves 90 per cent of the industry.

Industry sources said copper consumers had about a three months supply on hand, but about one quarter of production was earmarked for defense. Government officials expressed no immediate concern over possible shortages of vital war material, however, because of stockpiled reserves.

Because of this, a Labor Department official said in Washington there were no immediate plans to invoke the Taft-Hartley act to halt the strike by injunction. But he said a lengthy walkout could force federal officials to change their minds.

The bulk of the plants are owned by copper's "Big Four" of Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda and American Smelting and Refining. Among them, they produce some 1.5 million tons of copper per year.

Percy Digs Hippies In Visit To Haight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—What happens when a millionaire senator who could some day be president meets one of San Francisco's flower children?

They share a piece of bread together.

Republican Charles H. Percy addressed the final session of the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors over the weekend.

But first he took an anonymous stroll down Haight Street—heart of San Francisco's hippieland. He said he walked through the area because "the understanding of culture is part of a politician's life."

"This young man offered me a piece of bread," Percy said later, "and I was happy to share it with him. Sharing bread is his way of finding happiness."

Percy said Hippies were anxious to tell him why they want to "rebel against conformity."

"This generation is against a society that has the power to destroy itself and situations like Vietnam, where innocent people on both sides are hurt," he said.

"Each generation has its own way of manifesting itself to differentiate from the past. Mine had panty raids and swallowed goldfish."

Percy also said he was impressed by the fact that those he talked to seem to have a good IQ.

"I said to them 'If you feel this way, who don't you take your feelings out into society instead of living together?'

"They couldn't quite answer that except to say they found more comfort among themselves."

When he arrived at the conference, Percy carried two hippie newspapers, printed in their vivid psychedelic colors—under his arm. He said he would take them home to his family.

The Haight-Ashbury newspapers are outspoken in the position that marijuana should be legalized and Percy at least went along with them in indicating he felt marijuana legal penalties were now too harsh.

He said of imprisonment for illegal use of the drug that "this possibly might be somewhat excessive. I understand it is not addictive. It doesn't create violence . . . you have to temper punishment."

No Peace Expected Soon In Copper Mine Strike

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI)—The nation's copper production was almost at a standstill today and striking workers looked forward to a "long, hungry summer."

About 37,000 workers at mines, mills smelters and refiners of the four major producers and several small companies walked off the job Saturday in a dispute over wages. Federal mediators yesterday conceded that they could see no quick end to the dispute, which involves 90 per cent of the industry.

Industry sources said copper consumers had about a three months supply on hand, but about one quarter of production was earmarked for defense. Government officials expressed no immediate concern over possible shortages of vital war material, however, because of stockpiled reserves.

Because of this, a Labor Department official said in Washington there were no immediate plans to invoke the Taft-Hartley act to halt the strike by injunction. But he said a lengthy walkout could force federal officials to change their minds.

The bulk of the plants are owned by copper's "Big Four" of Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda and American Smelting and Refining. Among them, they produce some 1.5 million tons of copper per year.

Vase, Statue Taken From Porch, Yard

An antique handcarved stone vase valued at $500 was taken from the front porch of the home of Carmen Fratis, 80 Corte Placida in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur early Saturday, according to Larkspur police.

Mrs. Betty Passanisi of 330 Via La Cumbre, in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur, told police last night that a $40 statuette of a dwarf was taken from her front yard over the weekend.

Car Sales Boost Rise In Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spurred by rebounding automobile sales, the economy resumed its expansion during the second quarter after its first-quarter pause, with Gross National Product advancing by $9 billion at an annual rate.

This was reported today by the Commerce Department, which said half the second-quarter rise in GNP — The value of all goods and services produced in the economy — was in real growth, with the remainder in price increases.

A rise in prices during the January-March period more than offset the $4.2-billion advance in GNP, the first time this happened since the current expansion began in early 1961.

GNP for the second quarter totaled $775.3 billion at an annual rate, the department said.

The advance wasn't as large as the administration anticipated several weeks ago when Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, predicted a $10-billion rise in the figure for the April-June quarter.

This confirmed that the first-half economic sluggishness has been deeper than government experts projected: But they are sticking to their forecast of a sharp upturn during the second half of 1967 requiring a tax increase to stem inflation and help pay for the Vietnam war.

Despite the improvement, real growth during the second quarter advanced at an annual rate of 2.5 per cent while for the first six months of this year the real growth rate was only 1.2 per cent on an annual basis.

This compared with a real growth rate of 5.8 per cent on the average during the previous three years and the council's hope for a growth rate this year of 4 per cent.

Marijuana Said Found On Youths

Three Marin teen-agers were booked in Marin County Juvenile Hall early today on charges of possessing marijuana and curfew violations.

The trio was arrested after Sheriff's Deputy Richard Borba stopped them for questioning in Tiburon. In the car in which they were riding, Borba found a small packet of eight or nine marijuana cigarettes.

One of those arrested was a 15-year-old boy from Larkspur, and another was a 14-year-old boy from Stinson Beach. Both have been in juvenile hall before on parents' complaints that they had run away. The third juvenile was a 15-year-old girl from Mill Valley who had been previously referred to juvenile authorities for drinking.

Radios Stolen

Linda Burge of 1145 Mission Street, San Rafael, said someone entered her apartment through an open window sometime Saturday, taking two radios and $50 worth of record albums, San Rafael police reported today.

Japanese Ship Said Poaching Alaskan Fish

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — Federal and state authorities were preparing today to take action against the master of a Japanese fishing vessel which was reported to have been seized fishing within Alaskan territory waters yesterday.

The Coast Guard cutter Confidence was expected to arrive at Adak Naval Station in the Aleutians today with the Japanese Tenyo Maru No. 3.

Cmdr. Robert E. Dolliver, commanding officer of the Confidence, said he ordered his men to board and seize the 330-foot stern trawler when she was observed fishing within the three-mile limit off Segula Island east of attu in the Aleutians. The Coast Guard said Bureau of Commercial Fisheries Agent Sidney Morgan went aboard the ship and found the hold full of ocean perch.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Marvin F. Frankel said last night at Anchorage that he and U.S. Commissioner James Hanson planned to fly to Adak today for arraignment of the master of the Japanese ship. However, Frankel said if it is found that no one on the ship speaks English well enough, the defendant will be taken to Anchorage for trial.

It was indicated that the Japanese master will be charged with fishing inside territorial boundaries, a charge which could result in a year's prison term and a $10,000 fine or confiscation of the cargo and ship.

Guilty Plea Entered In Theft Of Boat

Norman R. Hettman, 24, of San Francisco changed his plea from innocent to guilty in Marin Superior Court today when he appeared on a charge of grand theft and Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered a probation report.

Hettman was accused of stealing a 29-foot ketch belonging to Wilbur Hubbinett of San Francisco from Clipper Yacht Harbor in Sausalito Feb. 22.

SMALL, DANGEROUS BUTTONS

Tiny "mini mines" that are being found around Fort Walton, Fla., are shown in the hand of an Eglin Air Force Base munitions expert. The tiny explosive devices were accidentally dropped from a warplane off the coast, in joint Air Force-Army war games. The discs are intended to be scattered around U.S. defense facilities in places such as Vietnam; their easily-triggered blasts would alert troops of enemy prowlers. One civilian in Florida has been injured by a mine washed up on the beach. (AP Wirephoto)

WE SEW SEATS

Car seats. With split seams.

For example . . . the little VW is a mighty fine car. It's put together by strong mechanics. They have contests to see who can tighten the bolts best. They never come apart. Except at the seams. We sew them up. With dacron thread. And they never come apart! (Sam, incidentally, pioneered the use of dacron thread in the automotive field in Marin. Just one of our many firsts.)

We sew seams for Fords, Chevs, and Plymouths, TRs, MGAs, and Alfas. And many more, too. We also install seat covers, auto glass and convertible tops, carpets, headrests and armrests. And many more.

MUSIC REVIEW

Guarrera's Voice, Personality Praised

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Baritone Frank Guarrera captivated his audience yesterday afternoon in the second of the Marin Music Chest's current summer series at Forest Meadows with his glorious voice, sparkling personality and a program that included many sure-fire crowd-pleasers.

His performance clearly demonstrated why the young Italian singer has made such a success both as a Metropolitan Opera star and as recitalist, for he has great dramatic talent and a gift for pure lyricism that is enchanting. And his diction is flawless.

His voice was one of glowing warmth and beauty in quality, wide range and powerful resonance, as well as technical and expressive facility.

All of these virtues were heard to fullest advantage in the aria "Nemico della Patria" from the opera "Andrea Chenier" by Giordano and in his sensational rendition of the "Largo al Factotum" from Rossini's "Barber of Seville." The latter was the best performance of this famous aria we have heard since that of Tito Gobi.

Sung as the last of three encores, it brought a standing ovation. It should have been programmed as one of his major works. This points up his questionable programming.

Guarrera apparently sought to insure a popular success by including many familiar melodies, such as Tchaikowsky's "None But the Lonely Heart," "Where'er You Walk" from Handel's oratorio "Semele," "I Got Plenty of Nuttin' " from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and even that war horse, the torreador song from Bizet's "Carmen."

These, together with the delightfully funny Creole folk song "Mr. Banjo" could well have been encores along with the Broadway show tunes "Old Man River" and "Without a Song."

Sung with a vigor and animation similar to that heard in the Figaro aria were "Chi Volo Innamerarsi" by Scarlatti and Guglielmo's aria from Mozart's "Cose Fan Tutte."

A wide range of expressive nuances was called for in the aria "O del Mio Dolce Arder" from Gluck's opera "Paris and Helen" and the two Schubert songs "Der Wanderer" and "Fruhlingsglaube."

Two of Rachmaninoff's loveliest songs, "O Thou Billowy Harvest Field" and "In the Silent Night," were exquisite, as were "The Last Hour—" by A. Walter Kramer and "When I Have My Songs" and "My Lady Walks in Loveliness" by Ernest Charles.

Lowell Farr was the kind of piano accompanist whose playing was so much a part of the total musical experience that it was scarcely noticed — a high compliment in this special art.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack accepted the park on behalf of the city in today's ceremonies and John Novak, Novato Rotary Club president, did the ribbon-cutting.

CULINARY CAPER

For Want Of Boat Ride, Cake Was Almost Lost

Flying and floating a wedding cake from Oakland to Sausalito was all a gag to begin with but then the boat broke down and it was up to a San Anselmo attoryney to get it to the church on time.

What happened in Saturday's wedding cake caper was this:

Ed Reynolds, owner of Kopper Kettle Bakery, Oakland, baked it. Sue Reardon decorated it. And it was they, with bakery manager Hardy Bell, dressed as a clown, who set out to deliver it.

In Racoon Straits, and not in the plans, Hardy's boat broke down. The cake carriers hailed the Mini De, a boat piloted by Jasper C. De Dobbeleer of 54 Legend Road, who agreed to assist.

He whisked the cake to a Sausalito dock. Taxi driver Constance M. Bannett, standing by, drove to Sausalito Presbyterian Church, making the 1 p.m. deadline by a few minutes. Later, Rev. David J. Jacobsen reported the students were happily wed and the cake was happily eaten.

Boy Breaks Leg In Bike Crash

A nine-year-old San Anselmo boy suffered a fractured left leg when his bicycle collided head-on with a car on a sharp curve at 95 Ridge Road, San Anselmo yesterday at 5:42 p.m., according to San Anselmo police.

Gregory A. Ardito, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ardito fo 168 Meadowcroft Drive, was treated at Marin General Hospital but did not rsquire hospitalization.

Ten Photographers Win Contest Prizes

Winners are: First place, $50—C. K. Viland, Bodega and Peter B. Yorke, Novato. Second place, $25—Jane Hyde, Sausalito; Sister M. Adele, San Rafael and A. B. Campbell, San Anselmo. Third place, trophies — Edward Tachet, Woodacre; Ronald C. Hale, Corte Madera; John A. Freschl and Joe Garratti, both of San Rafael and Howard B. Saunders, San Anselmo.

Guarrera's Voice, Personality Praised

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Baritone Frank Guarrera captivated his audience yesterday afternoon in the second of the Marin Music Chest's current summer series at Forest Meadows with his glorious voice, sparkling personality and a program that included many sure-fire crowd-pleasers.

His performance clearly demonstrated why the young Italian singer has made such a success both as a Metropolitan Opera star and as recitalist, for he has great dramatic talent and a gift for pure lyricism that is enchanting. And his diction is flawless.

His voice was one of glowing warmth and beauty in quality, wide range and powerful resonance, as well as technical and expressive facility.

All of these virtues were heard to fullest advantage in the aria "Nemico della Patria" from the opera "Andrea Chenier" by Giordano and in his sensational rendition of the "Largo al Factotum" from Rossini's "Barber of Seville." The latter was the best performance of this famous aria we have heard since that of Tito Gobi.

Sung as the last of three encores, it brought a standing ovation. It should have been programmed as one of his major works. This points up his questionable programming.

Guarrera apparently sought to insure a popular success by including many familiar melodies, such as Tchaikowsky's "None But the Lonely Heart," "Where'er You Walk" from Handel's oratorio "Semele," "I Got Plenty of Nuttin' " from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and even that war horse, the torreador song from Bizet's "Carmen."

These, together with the delightfully funny Creole folk song "Mr. Banjo" could well have been encores along with the Broadway show tunes "Old Man River" and "Without a Song."

Sung with a vigor and animation similar to that heard in the Figaro aria were "Chi Volo Innamerarsi" by Scarlatti and Guglielmo's aria from Mozart's "Cose Fan Tutte."

A wide range of expressive nuances was called for in the aria "O del Mio Dolce Arder" from Gluck's opera "Paris and Helen" and the two Schubert songs "Der Wanderer" and "Fruhlingsglaube."

Two of Rachmaninoff's loveliest songs, "O Thou Billowy Harvest Field" and "In the Silent Night," were exquisite, as were "The Last Hour—" by A. Walter Kramer and "When I Have My Songs" and "My Lady Walks in Loveliness" by Ernest Charles.

Lowell Farr was the kind of piano accompanist whose playing was so much a part of the total musical experience that it was scarcely noticed — a high compliment in this special art.

INVERNESS GUITAR SOLOIST

Harry Alto will give a guitar recital at 8:30 p.m. July 22 at St. Columba's Church, Inverness, as part of the three-day Inverness Music Festival. Other events are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., July 22 and 3 and 8:30 p.m. July 23 and 30.

Change Of Theater For Young Thespians

The Young Actors Company will open its third summer season in new quarters when it presents "The No Soap Show," a satirical revue, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Gate Theater in Sausalito.

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Thursdays through Sundays during the run.

The YAC was affiliated with Festival Theater of San Anselmo in the past. This season the group, all college students living in Marin, got court permission to open the Gate, closed for almost a year, for the summer fun and has painted and renovated the theater.

In the cast are Michael Knight, Maureen Lee and Don Carroll, all of Larkspur; Dennis Gribbin, David Ereth and Cindee Miscovitch, all of Novato; Ted and Alex Hermann of Kentfield; Judy Navas, Terra Linda; Angela Lett, Ross; Judy Mock, Corte Madera; John Bamberger, Belvedere; Nick Krause, Tiburon, and Niki Hersh, Mill Valley.

Free Films On Outdoors At Museum

Next Saturday's films will be "Journey Into Time," "Hot Dry Desert," "Outdoor Country" and "White Throat."

Films July 29 will be "Niok, "Loon's Necklace" and "Adventure Trent Servern Style."

On Aug. 5 films will be "On the Twelfth Day," "Neighbors" and "Breath of Spring." Aug 12 films will be "Newfoundland Sea Birds," "Niok" and "Day at the Calgary Zoo."

Films Aug. 19 will be "Olympic Elk," "Nanook of the North" and "Mysteries of the Deep."

Minor Injuries To Three Airmen In Auto Crash

Three Hamilton Air Force Base airmen suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident early Saturday morning in San Francisco, base officials reported today.

A/3C Rex L. Smith, driver of the car which collided with another in an intersection at 12:15 a.m., was cited for speeding by San Francisco police.

The other two airmen were A/3C Robert E. Blankenship and A/3C William A. Mason. Another passenger, Irene Phillips of San Francisco, was uninjured, according to base officials.

The three airmen were treated at Bayside Emergency Hospital for minor cuts and bruises and sent to Hamilton Air Force Base hospital where they were examined and released.

The driver of the other car, Allen Walls of San Francisco, was uninjured.

Gas Siphoned

Mrs. Regina Brymer, 99 Del Casa Drive, and W. W. Newland, 92 Sycamore Avenue, both Mill Valley, reported Saturday to police that gas was siphoned from their vehicles Friday night while parked in front of their residences. Mrs. Brymer also reported that the hood ornament of her car was broken off during the night.

CULINARY CAPER

For Want Of Boat Ride, Cake Was Almost Lost

Flying and floating a wedding cake from Oakland to Sausalito was all a gag to begin with but then the boat broke down and it was up to a San Anselmo attoryney to get it to the church on time.

What happened in Saturday's wedding cake caper was this:

Ed Reynolds, owner of Kopper Kettle Bakery, Oakland, baked it. Sue Reardon decorated it. And it was they, with bakery manager Hardy Bell, dressed as a clown, who set out to deliver it.

In Racoon Straits, and not in the plans, Hardy's boat broke down. The cake carriers hailed the Mini De, a boat piloted by Jasper C. De Dobbeleer of 54 Legend Road, who agreed to assist.

He whisked the cake to a Sausalito dock. Taxi driver Constance M. Bannett, standing by, drove to Sausalito Presbyterian Church, making the 1 p.m. deadline by a few minutes. Later, Rev. David J. Jacobsen reported the students were happily wed and the cake was happily eaten.

Boy Breaks Leg In Bike Crash

A nine-year-old San Anselmo boy suffered a fractured left leg when his bicycle collided head-on with a car on a sharp curve at 95 Ridge Road, San Anselmo yesterday at 5:42 p.m., according to San Anselmo police.

Gregory A. Ardito, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ardito fo 168 Meadowcroft Drive, was treated at Marin General Hospital but did not rsquire hospitalization.

Ten Photographers Win Contest Prizes

Winners are: First place, $50—C. K. Viland, Bodega and Peter B. Yorke, Novato. Second place, $25—Jane Hyde, Sausalito; Sister M. Adele, San Rafael and A. B. Campbell, San Anselmo. Third place, trophies — Edward Tachet, Woodacre; Ronald C. Hale, Corte Madera; John A. Freschl and Joe Garratti, both of San Rafael and Howard B. Saunders, San Anselmo.

Playground Opens In Novato

The Rotary Tot Lot was dedicated in Novato today and a flock of children promptly began testing the swings, slide and galloping toy horses.

The playground at Olive and Railroad avenues was constructed by Novato Rotarians who donated their labor and $2,400 for materials. Spring rains delayed construction on land owned by the Novato Sanitary District. The lot will be operated by the city's Parks and Recreation Department.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack accepted the park on behalf of the city in today's ceremonies and John Novak, Novato Rotary Club president, did the ribbon-cutting.

Woman Dies In Mid-Span Bridge Leap

A 47-year-old Colma woman jumped from mid-span of the Golden Gate Bridge to her death yesterday afternoon, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Henzler told the San Francisco Coroner's Office his daughter was under out-patient psychiatric care at a San Mateo County hospital.

Miss Henzler stopped her southbound car and jumped from the west side of the bridge at 3:29 p.m., officers said. Her body was recovered by the Coast Guard at 3:40 p.m. and taken to Fort Point.

A witness, David M. Diola of San Francisco, said he saw the woman walk to the railing, look over, back up and then return to the railing and climb over.

Boaters Rescued After Explosion

OAKLAND (UPI) —Two Hayward men escaped serious injury yesterday when their 18-foot power boat exploded and burned in the Oakland Estuary.

Fred Majors, 62, and George Heizer, 55, were rescued by a group of radio and television newsmen who were on a nearby cruiser. The boat was demolished.

Blackout Hits Contra Costans

PITTSBURG (UPI) — A 200,000-volt power line fell near here early today, cutting off electrical power to most of eastern Contra Costa County and starting a 200-acre grass fire.

Pittsburg, Antioch, Pleasant Hill, Alamo, Concord and several neighboring communities were without power from about 3:30 a.m. to 4:30 a.m.

The grass fire, controlled by 6:30 a.m., forced closure of the Kirker Pass Road south of here for two hours.

Night Racing Success May Open Floodgates

The horse racing bill that galloped through the Legislature and was signed into law by the Governor extends daytime horse racing and, for the first time, legalizes parimutuel betting on night horse racing in California.

Promoters of the bill went so far as to make the gambling escalation measure an "urgency statute," thus effectively forestalling a referendum by the people.

The state Constitution defines "urgency statutes" as "those necessary for immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety."

In no sense can escalation of gambling be construed as necessary for the preservation of public peace, health or safety. The primary purpose in adding the urgency rider was to railroad the bill into law before public opinion could halt the escalation of gambling, as it has done so many times in the past.

But the bill is now law. There's little use in crying over spilt milk. It is time to turn our attention to the implications of this new foothold that gambling interests have gained.

In the past, persistent voter rejections of schemes like lotteries had the gambling interests on the defensive.

Now, with this year's success in expanding horse racing, the promoters are likely to go on the offensive with additional schemes to separate citizens from their hard-earned money.

Dog racing, jai alai enthusiasts, and advocates of the lottery, who have been waiting on the sidelines watching the outcome of extended horse racing, will probably come forth with new proposals next year.

Each of these schemes will bring with it its particular followers and the accompanying evils.

Legalized gambling at night will attract working people who can ill afford to throw away dollars that should be going for food and clothing for families. Welfare cost burdens will increase.

With every increase in games of chance, there is danger that more of the criminal element will be drawn into the state.

The horse racing escalation bill is expected to up state revenues by $10 to $13 million per year. This comes to only two-tenths of one per cent of the current $5 billion state budget. That's puny compensation for the increased problems of crime and welfare that accompany gambling.

Legislators who supported the horse racing escalation bill seemed to attach little significance to the addition of night racing and betting. They saw little difference between racing at 5:55 p.m. and 6:10 p.m.

We trust they are well prepared to resist pressures from other gambling promoters who will be banging at the gates with renewed vigor to get in on the gravy train.

Nature's Collectors

Man collects everything from stamps to diamonds. Most collectors rationalize this instinct as a relaxing, satisfying hobby, which, of course, it is. However, the collecting instinct has evolved from one common to many animals.

The lowly mole, plowing up Marin lawns, will collect hundreds of earthworms and store them in his burrow. The California Gray Squirrel and the California Jay hoard acorns. Chipmunks store grain and nuts in their collection. Crows are attracted by bright baubles, which they are prone to swipe and treasure. The woodrat, or packrat, as he is often called, is notorious for his habit of gleaning and storing a fantastic range of items, from dried cow chips to false teeth.

Every man has a bit of that primordial packrat instinct about him if he collects anything.

Any Reapportionment Unlikely Now For At Least Four Years

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) —From all indications, there will be no reapportionment of California's 38 Congressional districts this year, and probably not until 1971, which is the normal year for redistricting.

Before the federal courts got into the reapportionment act as a result of the "one man - one vote" decision of the United States Supreme Court, California provided for redistricting its Assembly, Senate and Congressional districts once every 10 years, in the legislative session just after the decennial census.

HOWEVER, THE legislature accomplished a senatorial reapportionment mid-way between the 1960 and 1970 census rather than having the federal court effectuate reapportionment, and in doing so, it destroyed the area-population concept of representation established by the 1931 reapportionment.

The Legislature, however took no mid-stream action on reapportioning the Congressional districts, so this was passed this year by the proponents of equal representation in the Congress.

Consultants for the Senate elections and reapportionment committee headed by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, went to great lengths to prepare a new map of Congressional districts, holding the average of each district to 413,-610, which was the 1960 figure for the 38 districts.

THE CONSULTANTS estimated 14 districts were out of line in population, having disparities ranging from 27 per cent below the average to 43 per cent above.

The new proposed reapportionment would have had a maximum disparity in the population of 4.96 per cent, which is about as close as can be obtained.

However, a group of senators in caucus decided to support a resolution by Sen. Hugh N. Burns, D-Fresno, delaying a redistricting measure. The resolution said in part:

"If the Legislature were now to undertake a reapportionment of congressional districts based on the 1960 census figures, the result might well be the creation of population disparities of even greater magnitude than now exist."

IN ADDITION, legislation is pending in Congress which would delay congressional reapportionment until after the 1970 census. While the 1970 figures would be available during that year, they probably would mean that actual voting in reapportioned districts would not be effective until 1972.

Senator Burns expects a suit to be filed in federal court seeking a reapportionment this year. However, he said he is depending on the practicality of the matter for favorable action of the courts.

ANY ACTION BEFORE the 1970 census figures are available, it was pointed out, would not only be meaningless insofar as equal representation is concerned, but also would constitute an unnecessary expense to the taxpayer.

Columnists Swing Over Veto Power

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Henry MacArthur's column of July 6, 1967, is an interesting example of the 180 degree swing taken by some political commentators in the past few months.

His comment on the shifting balance of power between the Governor and the Legislature due to the increased opportunity under Proposition 1-A for the Legislature to override certain of the Governor's budget cuts would be amusing if it were not so patently inconsistent with what this group of columnists was saying just two years ago.

At that time these commentators were decrying the "totalitarian" power of the Governor to "blackmail" the Legislature into authorizing the Governor's pet appropriations by his cutting of specific projects carrying maximum political weight with individual legislators. By doing that, Governor Brown got the Legislature back into session and was able to get most of the appropriations he wanted.

Now the shoe is on the other foot and Mr. MacArthur finds the balancing of what he once called a "dictorial power" to be a "complication" which presumably unethical legislators could use for "political purposes."

To set the matter in perspective, it should be pointed out that in many of our large industrial states the Governor does not even possess the constitutional "item veto" given the California governor. Thus, these governors cannot even "blue pencil" the budget at all as Governor Reagan can, but must take or veto the whole thing. This is also the situation with respect to the Presidential veto.

What Mr. MacArthur also underplays is the fact that to override a governor's veto the California Legislature must muster a two-thirds majority. It hardly seems unjust or unreasonable to allow two-thirds of the people's elected representatives in both houses to override the judgment of a single elected officer.

Birth Rights Of A Woman

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The liberalized abortion bill is only a start to eliminating the last remnants of legal restraint on interruption of pregnancy.

Science confirms the male participates in initiation of conception, and shows various stages of pre-life develop within the womb. Nevertheless, the rsulting pregnancy is a concern entirely between a woman and her own body. All good counsel should be available to such a woman, of course. But the actual choice of childbearing must be hers alone, by propriety of physiology, until she has delivered a breathing child. Only from birth should the infant be regarded as a separate human being with rights against those of its mother.

Women were once enslaved with the idea they must pay for having been equipped with bodies that produce babies. Once conceiving, these women were considered helpless vehicles of providence for the delivery of offspring. In an age of sexual equality, however, women should be able to assert their birth faculties as a power and may choose or not to bestow any birth upon society. Armed with contraception and abortion, they may dispense new life where they alone deem it appropriate, for whatever reasons.

Each woman must decide for herself. No man should be able to control any portion of the birth process after conception, when his own participation stops at the impulse and attempt to procreate — or when his own practice is to professionally abstain from impregnation, an act abortive of the whole life system from the outset.

Spock's Merit As Pediatrician

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your July 12 editorial indicates that Dr. Benjamin Spock favors a kid-glove approach to child discipline.

I believe a reading or rereading of his "Baby and Child Care" will thoroughly dispel your initial impression.

Among his many observations that could be cited, perhaps the following will suffice:

"Stick to your convictions. I think that good parents who naturally lean toward strictness should stick to their guns and raise their children that way. Moderate strictness — in the sense of requiring good manners, prompt obedience, orderliness — is not harmful to children so long as the parents are basically kind and so long as the children are growing up happy and friendly. But strictness is harmful when the parents are overbearing, harsh, chronically disapproving, and make no allowances for a child's age and individualiity. This kind of severity produces children who are either meek and colorless or mean to others. . . .

"Some parents who are very polite people themselves allow their children to be surprisingly obnoxious, not only to themselves but to outsiders as well. They don't seem to see what is going on. Some of these situations, when studied carefully, reveal that the parents had always been compelled to be much too good in their childhood and to suppress all their natural resentments. Now they get a subtle glee from letting their own flesh and blood act out all the disagreeableness they themselves had to bottle up, pretending all the time that this is all according to the best modern theories of child rearing.

"I'm not particularly advocating spanking, but I think it is less poisonous than lengthy disapproval, because it clears the air, for parent and child. You sometimes hear it recommended that you never spank a child in anger but wait until you have cooled off. That seems unnatural. It takes a pretty grim parent to whip a child when the anger is gone."

I sincerely hope that the possible disagreement you may have with Dr. Spock on the Vietnam issue will not becloud your future judgment of his merit as a pediatrician.

Some Sound Advice For GOP In Selecting The No. 2 Man

WASHINGTON — Every President of the United States since 1932 has either been the victim of attempted assassination or been assassinated, has either died in office or been the victim of serious illness.

I cite this only to make it clear that Vice Presidents are always near to assuming the awesome responsibility of the Presidency.

BECAUSE THE renomination of Hubert Humphrey can be taken for granted, only the Republicans will be choosing a new vice presidential candidate next year. It is not too soon for them to be thinking about it because there will be temptations to make the mistake of drawing some name out of an empty hat.

Two guidelines ought to be self-evident:

That no man is qualified to be nominated for the vice presidency unless he is qualified to be nominated for the presidency.

That the basic political attitudes and convictions of the vice presidential nominee should closely parallel those of the Presidentail nominee.

IF THESE PROPOSITIONS are valid — and they seem to me to be so when one considers the expanding role of the Vice President and the possibility that he may be called upon to do it all — then the Republicans must be sure to spurn some of the fantasies which they are now toying with.

The greatest temptation of the political strategists is to think how many extra votes can be corralled by "balancing" a liberal presidential nominee with a conservative running mate or by putting a hawk at the top of the ticket and a dove in second place, thus aiming at the war votes, the peace votes, and as many as possible in between.

NOT ALL SUCH combinations are considered ridiculous — though they ought to be. In the view of some, what a ticket Rockefeller and Reagan would be — or vice versa. Or Nixon and Hatfield, thus appealing simultaneously to everyone who wants to step up the fighting in Vietnam and everyone who wants to quit.

Neither of these two tickets is very likely, but I do suggest there is still a widely held belief that it is smart strategy to balance the nominations in this manner.

ONE CAN SEE WHAT a mess would have been created if Sen. Richard Russell had been John F. Kennedy's Vice President. That would have been a "balanced" ticket. Or how chaotic it would have been if, instead of Hubert Humphrey, Sen. William Fulbright had been Lyndon Johnson's Vice President. That would have been a "balanced" ticket.

Some geographical balance is at least harmless, as long as the nominees meet the other two requirements.

I am not proposing any Republican nominations, but it seems to me that there are two things the Republicans will need to avoid unless they are going to encourage voters to avoid their ticket.

ONE IS NOMINATING a nonentity for Vice President as they did in 1964.

The other is offering the nation a presidential ticket which some might blandly call balanced, but which really would be a house divided against itself.

A President can effectively utilize only a like-minded Vice President and if a Vice President has to assume the presidency this ought not to mean a change of national policy.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ's Attempt To Lessen Hot War

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON— Those friendly overtures that President Johnson sent to Communist China were designed to lessen the tensions building up over Vietnam between the two governments.

The President's message, stating a desire to improve relations, was delivered through Romania's Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer after Washington and Peking had exchanged stern warnings on expanding the Vietnam war.

IN THEIR most recent periodic conference in Warsaw, Peking's diplomats cautioned those from the U.S. that an invasion of North Vietnam by U.S. forces operating near the Demilitarized Zone would bring Chinese troops into the battle.

U.S. diplomats countered with a warning that the continued use of Chinese Communist bases by North Vietnamese fliers could lay those fields open to future U.S. air attacks.

The latter warning resulted from U.S. intelligence estimates that nearly all of North Vietnamese aircraft were now operating from bases inside Communist China.

Since the U.S. began bombing the North Vietnamese MIG airbases at Kep, Hoala, and Kienan, Navy and Air Force reconnaissance pilots reported the Red jets on these fields were moved across the border into southern China.

President Johnson so far has refused to permit U.S. fliers to pursue their attackers across the Chinese border. Under White House imposed restrictions, the U.S. pilots must not fly closer than 10 miles of the border.

The question of "hot pursuit"—the permitting of American fliers to chase attackers to their home base—was raised by Gen. William Westmoreland during Defense Secretary McNamara's visit. No decision came out of these talks, according to Pentagon insiders, since only President Johnson can authorize a change in policy.

THIS ASSAULT force, consisting of several thousand Marines, was used earlier this year for a successful landing behind enemy forces operating in the southern section of the Demilitarized Zone.

U.S. military authorities regard Peking's warning as an effort by Hanoi to obtain new White House assurances that there will be no landing such as MacArthur executed in Korea behind their 30,000 troops operating in North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

A landing on the coast above Vinh—which is only 35 miles from the western border of North Vietnam in the Annam mountain range—and a quick dash to the mountains would cut off this enemy force now being used to attack across the Demilitarized Zone.

A SUCCESSFUL U.S. invasion also would close the Keo Neua and Mugia passes leading to the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos, over which most of North Vietnam's supplies go to South Vietnam.

Known as the "cork in the bottle" plan, this military operation was proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to President Johnson several months ago. The President is still studying it along with the latest Peking warning.

That no man is qualified to be nominated for the vice presidency unless he is qualified to be nominated for the presidency.

That the basic political attitudes and convictions of the vice presidential nominee should closely parallel those of the Presidentail nominee.

IF THESE PROPOSITIONS are valid — and they seem to me to be so when one considers the expanding role of the Vice President and the possibility that he may be called upon to do it all — then the Republicans must be sure to spurn some of the fantasies which they are now toying with.

The greatest temptation of the political strategists is to think how many extra votes can be corralled by "balancing" a liberal presidential nominee with a conservative running mate or by putting a hawk at the top of the ticket and a dove in second place, thus aiming at the war votes, the peace votes, and as many as possible in between.

NOT ALL SUCH combinations are considered ridiculous — though they ought to be. In the view of some, what a ticket Rockefeller and Reagan would be — or vice versa. Or Nixon and Hatfield, thus appealing simultaneously to everyone who wants to step up the fighting in Vietnam and everyone who wants to quit.

Neither of these two tickets is very likely, but I do suggest there is still a widely held belief that it is smart strategy to balance the nominations in this manner.

ONE CAN SEE WHAT a mess would have been created if Sen. Richard Russell had been John F. Kennedy's Vice President. That would have been a "balanced" ticket. Or how chaotic it would have been if, instead of Hubert Humphrey, Sen. William Fulbright had been Lyndon Johnson's Vice President. That would have been a "balanced" ticket.

Some geographical balance is at least harmless, as long as the nominees meet the other two requirements.

I am not proposing any Republican nominations, but it seems to me that there are two things the Republicans will need to avoid unless they are going to encourage voters to avoid their ticket.

ONE IS NOMINATING a nonentity for Vice President as they did in 1964.

The other is offering the nation a presidential ticket which some might blandly call balanced, but which really would be a house divided against itself.

A President can effectively utilize only a like-minded Vice President and if a Vice President has to assume the presidency this ought not to mean a change of national policy.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ's Attempt To Lessen Hot War

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON— Those friendly overtures that President Johnson sent to Communist China were designed to lessen the tensions building up over Vietnam between the two governments.

The President's message, stating a desire to improve relations, was delivered through Romania's Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer after Washington and Peking had exchanged stern warnings on expanding the Vietnam war.

IN THEIR most recent periodic conference in Warsaw, Peking's diplomats cautioned those from the U.S. that an invasion of North Vietnam by U.S. forces operating near the Demilitarized Zone would bring Chinese troops into the battle.

U.S. diplomats countered with a warning that the continued use of Chinese Communist bases by North Vietnamese fliers could lay those fields open to future U.S. air attacks.

The latter warning resulted from U.S. intelligence estimates that nearly all of North Vietnamese aircraft were now operating from bases inside Communist China.

Since the U.S. began bombing the North Vietnamese MIG airbases at Kep, Hoala, and Kienan, Navy and Air Force reconnaissance pilots reported the Red jets on these fields were moved across the border into southern China.

President Johnson so far has refused to permit U.S. fliers to pursue their attackers across the Chinese border. Under White House imposed restrictions, the U.S. pilots must not fly closer than 10 miles of the border.

The question of "hot pursuit"—the permitting of American fliers to chase attackers to their home base—was raised by Gen. William Westmoreland during Defense Secretary McNamara's visit. No decision came out of these talks, according to Pentagon insiders, since only President Johnson can authorize a change in policy.

THIS ASSAULT force, consisting of several thousand Marines, was used earlier this year for a successful landing behind enemy forces operating in the southern section of the Demilitarized Zone.

U.S. military authorities regard Peking's warning as an effort by Hanoi to obtain new White House assurances that there will be no landing such as MacArthur executed in Korea behind their 30,000 troops operating in North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

A landing on the coast above Vinh—which is only 35 miles from the western border of North Vietnam in the Annam mountain range—and a quick dash to the mountains would cut off this enemy force now being used to attack across the Demilitarized Zone.

A SUCCESSFUL U.S. invasion also would close the Keo Neua and Mugia passes leading to the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos, over which most of North Vietnam's supplies go to South Vietnam.

Known as the "cork in the bottle" plan, this military operation was proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to President Johnson several months ago. The President is still studying it along with the latest Peking warning.

A Seasoned Freeway Commuter Philosophizes About Traffic

I know that, if they're on vacation, the businessmen of Marin who commute to San Francisco must miss the traffic very much. So, to bring them up to date on doings at one of the world's longest parking lots, let's go down to Highway 101 and snoop around.

"You cut me off, you creep!"

Beep!

Crash.

ACTION, AS USUAL. Here comes a motorist. Let's talk to him.

"Sir, may I have your name."

"Yes, it's Bill Pontiacford."

"Are you a commuter, Bill?"

"Certainly. It's fashionable."

"I see. Where do you commute from?"

"Lincoln, Neb."

"Lincoln, Neb.? My, that's certainly a long way. And you're on your way to San Francisco?"

"No, Los Angeles."

"Los Angeles? My, that's certainly a long way."

"DO YOU COME this way everyday?"

"No, only Monday through Thursday."

"And what do you do on Friday?"

"What have you found you like the most about driving along Highway 101, Bill? The scenery? The Civic Center?"

"No, I think I like the Muzzi property best."

"I see. And isn't the Golden Gate beautiful?"

"Yes, but the subdivisions are nice, too."

"Don't you mind the traffic, especially on Waldo Grade?"

"Wouldn't taking the bus be more relaxing?"

"Gosh, no. That's boring. Who wants to sit and read the paper and relax?"

"WELL, SOME traffic improvements might be made. I understand they're thinking of adding a second deck to the Golden Gate Bridge."

"What? And ruin this fun?"

"Well, it would help move traffic into and out of San Francisco faster."

"That sounds awful. But, then, people might think that things are going to get better, and then everyone will jump into their cars and cause an even bigger traffic jam."

"That could very well happen."

"And that would probably mean that, even though traffic might move more swiftly across the Golden Gate Bridge, the cars would all crush into San Francisco and get jammed up there."

"IT'S LIKELY, Bill. But, by that time, they may have built freeways which will help get people in and out of the center of the city faster."

"I doubt it. The people in the Marina will never allow it and how much would a tunnel through Russian Hill cost? And, even if a freeway were built, that'll still mean traffic will get jammed up downtown."

"You have a point, Bill."

"But then there is always the possibility that a lot of the dense traffic lovers will get cold feet and the traffic will thin out and it'll be awful."

"What could happen, Bill?"

DeGaulle To Climax Expo 67 Tour By A Water-Walking Act

WASHINGTON — President Charles de Gaulle is coming to Expo 67 on July 23 and everyone is very excited about his appearance. His itinerary for the fair hasn't been set yet, but based on his recent behavior I can only guess what he will do.

9 a.m.: First stop, the Soviet Pavilion, where he will praise Soviet exhibits as the only ones fulfilling the theme of Man and His World. He will announce that France and the Soviet Union will continue to cooperate at Expo 67 and will consult each other on all questions arising from other foreign exhibits.

10 a.m.: President De Gaulle will hold a press conference at the French Pavilion where he will read a statement attacking the size and shape of the United States Pavilion and will accuse the United States of wrecking Expo 67 by refusing to get out of Vietnam. He will blame the United States for the large crowds that have been attracted to Montreal and will call for the immediate withdrawal of American tourists from the Expo amusement area. De Gaulle will also use the press conference to appeal to neutral nations exhibiting there to join the French in rejecting any attempts on the part of the United States to "Americanize" the fair.

11 a.m.: President De Gaulle will receive a delegation from the British Pavilion, making application to join the French Pavilion in a Common Souvenir Market. He will tell the British that France is opposed to the British getting into the French Pavilion at this time. De Gaulle will point out that as long as the British keep co-operating with the United States Pavilion by exchanging visitors and souvenirs, they will not be welcome in the Common Market Pavilion trade areas.

12:10 p.m.: PRESIDENT DeGaulle will make a tour of the Arab Pavilion where he will once again back the Arabs in their condemnation of the Israeli Pavilion. He will blame the Israelis for cutting off visitors to the Arab exhibits and for committing aggression against the U.A.R. Pavilion. He will announce that the French will boycott the Israeli Pavilion until the Israelis get out of the west bank of the St. Lawrence River, where Expo 67 is taking place.

1:39 p.m.: The French president will meet with the leaders of the Latin-American pavilions and offer them cutrate meals at the French restaurant if they will agree to stop eating at the United States Pavilion.

2:15 p.m.: President De Gaulle will visit the Bank of Montreal where he will demand gold for all the dollars left at the French Pavilion by Americans.

3 p.m.: THE FRENCH president will visit with Expo 67 officials and then call for a Big Four conference to settle the question of open shipping through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

3:50 p.m.: De Guulle, while visiting the world science exhibition, will announce that France will set off an atomic bomb test over the French Pavilion to celebrate the birthday of Joan of Arc.

4:30 p.m.: The French president will participate in a giant water and fountain display climaxed by his walking across the St. Lawrence River and laying a wreath at the foot of the American Express.

5 P.M.: DE GAULLE will leave the fair and fly to Cuba just to see if Kosygin told Castro anything that he didn't tell him.

Sanitary Board To View Plans

Directors of Richardson Bay Sanitary District tomorrow will discuss plans and specifications for sanitary improvements for Reedland Woods Unit No. 2 subdivision, north of Blackfield Drive, Tiburon.

The area was annexed to the district last May.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion of long-range improvements to the treatment plant, according to board president Stanley G. Bennett.

Kennedy-Fullbright Meeting Wednesday

Marin chapter of Citizens for Kennedy/Fulbright will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at 33 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley.

The announcement of the meeting, published last Saturday, mentioned July 10, which was a typographical error.

William M. Taylor, who heads the Kennedy/Fulbright chapter, said that the group's goals for summer and fall will be discussed at the Wednesday meeting. Citizens for Kennedy/Fulbright are supporting Robert F. Kennedy for President.

Reagan Outlaws Plane Landings On Freeways

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed into law a bill making it illegal to land, taxi or take off aircraft from a public freeway, highway, road, or street, except under emergency conditions.

The bill was SB263 by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka.

Other bills signed by Reagan included: SB244-Bradley, extends vehicle owner's vicarious liability for acts or omissions of a permissive user to include willful misconduct and intoxication.

S B 3 16-Grunsky, authorizes junior colleges to hire temporary teachers when they are needed because of higher enrollment for a semester or quarter.

AB1389-Burton, requires insurer who determines not to renew an automobile liability policy to give insured notice of at least 20 days before policy is due to lapse.

AB-1697 — Karabian, provides person who has made bona fide sale of motor vehicle and given notice to department of motor vehicles, shall not be responsible for subsequent traffic violations involving the vehicle.

SB266-Burns, permits increases in salaries of state librarian, chief of division of industrial welfare, labor commissioner and chief of industrial safety. Restores position of assistant deputy state controller which had been removed from the budget in its final version.

Blame Gravy, Not Potatoes

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)—Blame the gravy for making you fat, not the potato. Potatoes provide the basic food elements people need, says Dr. Gaylord P. Whitlock, University of California nutritionist. But some of the popular treatments can triple the calories a potato contains.

"A medium-sized potato has no more calories than half a grapefruit," Whitlock said. "But the gravy you use can add a significant number of calories, often more than the potato itself."

High Grades Bring Honors From College

Thirteen College of Marin students carrying 12 or more units in the spring semester received straight A averages and 11 students carrying nine to 12 units earned A averages.

Similar Smiths In Air Force

SCOTT AFB, Ill. (UPI)—There are two Alfred Emanuel Smiths at this air base. Both are New Englanders and both are named for Alfred Emanuel Smith, former New York governor who lost the 1928 presidential election to Herbert Hoover.

Two months before the election, Alfred Emanuel Smith was born in Malden, Mass., and two months after Smith's defeat, Alfred Emanuel Smith was born in Natick, Mass. The two Smiths, now 38, are sergeants. Although they lived only 12 miles apart in their home towns, they never met until they came here.

Mercedes-Benz announces a more potent 230SL—the 250SL.

Mercedes-Benz 250SL appearance remains identical with 230SL. The engineers are too busy to waste time on superficial styling changes.

If you like the Mercedes-Benz 230SL but would like it more if it had a bit more dash, you can now buy the Mercedes-Benz 250SL.

What's new?

Outside, the 250SL is identical with the 230SL; there was no reason to make it look different. But internally, it features these changes:

1. A 2.5-liter, 6-cylinder, fuel-injection, single overhead camshaft engine.

3. An oil-water heat exchanger, added to help keep engine oil temperature low.

4. Gasoline tank capacity has risen to 21.6 gallons.

Note to 230SL owners: You needn't feel betrayed; the 250SL was never calculated to shunt your car into obsolescence. For one thing, it's almost impossible to tell a 250SL from a 230SL without standing six inches from the nameplate and squinting at the letters. And for another, the 230SL will continue being sold in the United States for an indefinite period. The 250SL's higher price and performance assures a place for both cars in the same showroom.

An extra surge

You'll zip from a standstill to 60 mph in a shade less than 10 seconds in the 250SL. Actual top speed—where legal—stands at 124 mph.

The 250SL engine: 124 mph, up to 20 miles per gallon.

The 250SL (SL for Super Light) engine ranks as one of the most sophisticated designs used in any passenger car: a 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft type with unique fuel injection replacing carburetors. It is about half the size of an average domestic V8, yet cruises effortlessly at over 100 mph (where legal). This engine is largely hand-assembled, machined to tolerances of four 10,000ths of an inch, inspected 46 times and bench-tested for 65 minutes before being approved for installation in the car.

This represents no change from the 230SL. But Mercedes-Benz engineers have given the 250SL added zest in the vital middle speed range. This larger-displacement engine pumps out more thrust, or torque, precisely where it does you the most good. For instance, you have an extra reserve of power for sudden passing on the open road. And when rapid takeoff at low speeds is needed—such as in city traffic—the 250SL responds with more punch.

Welcome fact: Sensible engine size and efficient design serve another purpose. The 250SL is economical with fuel. You can expect up to 20 miles per gallon of gasoline in normal driving, even if your car is equipped with automatic transmission.

Another advantage of the 250SL engine: its seven-main-bearing crankshaft. "Right up to maximum rpm and top speed, the engine remains smooth and unobtrusive," reports a British motoring journal. This crankshaft plays a major role in stifling noise and vibration.

Are these brakes necessary?

Mercedes-Benz engineers were under no pressure to improve the brakes for the 250SL; after all, the 230SL's disc-and-drum brake system already holds Road & Track magazine's all-time record for fast stopping times.

But the improvement was made regardless. You stop the 250SL with the awesome ease and smoothness of big, 10½-inch, caliper-type disc brakes at every wheel. Fading is virtually abolished.

What isn't new

The 250SL carries over those assets that have made the 230SL one of the most celebrated and respected sports machines of the decade.

For example, the 250SL's road-holding abilities match those of the 230SL—of which Autocar magazine once wrote, "The car can even be cornered hard enough for the tires to howl in pouring rain."

This means safety. It also means fun. It is achieved by superior engineering—by designing up to a standard, not down to a price. You ride on a fully independent, rear swing-axle suspension. This suspension in turn sits on 14-inch, radial-ply tires separated by an almost 5-foot track. (Stand behind the 250SL and notice its stance; it seems to straddle the road, like a lobster—or a Grand Prix racing machine.)

Background note: Mercedes-Benz engineers have an absolute knack for building roadworthy cars—a knack, in fact, that has earned the company 5 world championships and 4,403 victories in seven decades of racing.

Not a bucket of bolts

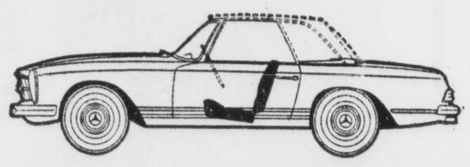
Mercedes-Benz doesn't believe a sports car has to be flimsy. The 250SL is one of the world's most solidly built two-seaters. The key: a unit body that employs welding, instead of a few nuts and bolts, to fuse body and chassis into a single rigid structure. Nuts and bolts can work loose but welds can't; your 250SL won't turn into a creaking crock in a year or two.



250SL passengers have more forward legroom—28¾ inches—than in the Rolls-Royce Silver Cloud II.

Nor is it likely to corrode. There are 20 pounds of primer under the paint; 20 more pounds of permanent, plasticized undercoating protect the underside. Deep recesses in the bodywork are brushed with a zinc protective lining before assembly—further insurance against condensation, corrosion, and rust.

A comfortable sports car

Like its predecessor, it's difficult from inside to tell that the 250SL is a sports car; it's too comfortable. You and your passenger are cradled in a pair of deep, contoured seats that "grip, support, relax, and ventilate your body supremely well," according to Motor magazine. Their backrests recline for catnaps.

You're not cooped and cramped in the 250SL. Amazingly enough, there's more forward legroom in this car than in the lordly Rolls-Royce Silver Cloud II. There's even a useful amount of trunk space—7 cubic feet. And 5 cubic feet more stowage space awaits behind the seats.

The 250SL abounds in thoughtful details, inside and out.

For example, there are no fewer than 7 separate heating and ventilation controls, with individual sets for driver and passenger. And the paint on the 250SL's rocker panels will never be marred or chipped by flying stones, because it isn't paint. It's a thick black rubber shield, permanently bonded to the bodywork.

And it's a whisker quicker in takeoff than the manual version. Power-assisted steering is also available, optional at extra cost. It is the world's best power-assisted steering.

Your next step

"This combination of absolute security, complete stability, and plain old hell-raising fun must be driven to be believed," enthused the Editor of Car and Driver magazine after road testing the 230SL. Being the same car only more so, the 250SL requires the same proof.

Blame Gravy, Not Potatoes

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)—Blame the gravy for making you fat, not the potato. Potatoes provide the basic food elements people need, says Dr. Gaylord P. Whitlock, University of California nutritionist. But some of the popular treatments can triple the calories a potato contains.

"A medium-sized potato has no more calories than half a grapefruit," Whitlock said. "But the gravy you use can add a significant number of calories, often more than the potato itself."

CRITICAL NEED

Refresher Course For Inactive Nurses

By LOIS SENS

On Friday, fifteen formerly inactive nurses residing in Marin, completed a five-week refresher program held at Marin General Hospital. All of them met three common requirements before signing up for the program which is supported by the Manpower Development Training Act — that of registered nurse, five or more inactive years in the profession and availability for full or part time duty.

The need for such a refresher program has prompted the cooperation of the College of Marin which selects the instructors and coordinates the classes; Marin General Hospital which supplies the facilities; and the State Employment Service which recruits and selects students.

According to Mrs. Harriet Klock, director of nursing at Marin General Hospital, the need is critical. Last year in this country there were 621,000 active nurses — 125,000 are currently needed and 200,000 nurses are presently inactive in the United States. Members of the refresher class have diversified backgrounds. Mrs. Mildred Sutton of Novato and her husband, a doctor in the Army Medical Corps, were on a tour of Japan and China when the Japanese invasion began. She recalls meeting Gen. Richard Stilwell on board ship during the trip to the Philippine Islands and he subsequently became the group's expert interpreter during the China tour.

SHE LATER BECAME an army nurse and has also worked at Children's Hospital, in the city, as head nurse on the fourth floor of Marin General Hospital, Sonoma Community Hospital and Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital in evening duty on the medical and surgical wards.

Mrs. Margaret Smetana, whose husband is a professor of political science at University of San Francisco, was a member of the U.S. Army Nurse Corps during the Second World War and participated in the North African and Italian Campaign. She had completed the requirements for the recently revised Health Services credential and for the state 's Department of Health in audiological and vision screening.

HOPING TO MAKE the transition back to nursing through the refresher program, Margaret wants to work part time as well as keep her position as volunteer school nurse at St. Hilary's School.

Another member of the class, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, is the mother of three children and the wife of the district sales manager of Irish Airlines in San Francisco. She was graduated from University of California and a nursing program at Contra Costa College. She has worked on call and part time mostly in postpartum and nursery and plans to work at least two days or nights a week as well as continue her studies.

Mrs. Mary K. Bates hasn't worked in nursing for twelve years. She was graduated from College of Marin and St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco and worked in the nursery and surgery at Marin General.

She worked evenings at Kaiser Clinic in Oakland assisting in obstetrics and multiphasic examinations while working on a bachelor's degree in public health nursing. Her work in earning a PHN certificate was interrupted with the birth of Kate Bates. She and her husband Jerry are also the parents of Pamela, Jerry and John Patrick Bates. Four years ago the family moved to Mt. Shasta where Mary is a volunteer nurse for the Public Health Dept. She would like to complete requirements for the PHN certificate and help with hospital nursing in her community.

It's Tolstoi Feminity In Fall Fashions

By LEONORA DODSWORTH

ROME (AP) — Russian from the top of her fur busby to the tip of her tight-fitting boots and as feminine as a Tolstoi heroine —that's the new women for fall as many top Italian fashion designers see her.

Presentations of Italian Fall-winter coutoure collections started here last week and will continue through Thursday.

Thirty-one high-fashion houses will pack the week-long program, which also contains such additional treats as boutique styles, mens wear, children's fashions and furs.

AS AN APERITIF to the main meal of high fashion, 12 boutique and knitwear specialists—including such top-notch names as Aponte, Avagolf, Trico and Princess Luciana—will present some tasty tidbits in the way of fun styles for next spring and summer.

The Italian-American design team of Sergio Ognibene and Peter Zendman, among the first to show, promise particularly generous helpings in a completely Russian-orientated collection.

"THIS WILL BE a show of complete contrasts," says Zendman, "with either very short or very long helmlines and we'll show boots—sometimes so high we call them body boots—with everything."

Their wide-skirted "hussar" overcoats will have gleaming metal frog fastenings taking the place of the usual braid. Bloused backs pouched into belts will give Cossack styling to soft wool dresses. High czarina collars will be richly embroidered on evening gowns and pockets and cuffs will twinkle with rhinestones.

WRITER BORIS PASTERNAK never dreamed that Dr. Zhivago would become a fashion phrase but the name will be used again and again in the next few days to describe the handsome double-breasted coats that sweep down to a new leg-warming length.

For those women who don't see themselves translated into Russians, there'll be plenty of less exaggerated styles.

Fashion designers are willing to drop few hints at this point.

CRITICAL NEED

Refresher Course For Inactive Nurses

By LOIS SENS

On Friday, fifteen formerly inactive nurses residing in Marin, completed a five-week refresher program held at Marin General Hospital. All of them met three common requirements before signing up for the program which is supported by the Manpower Development Training Act — that of registered nurse, five or more inactive years in the profession and availability for full or part time duty.

The need for such a refresher program has prompted the cooperation of the College of Marin which selects the instructors and coordinates the classes; Marin General Hospital which supplies the facilities; and the State Employment Service which recruits and selects students.

According to Mrs. Harriet Klock, director of nursing at Marin General Hospital, the need is critical. Last year in this country there were 621,000 active nurses — 125,000 are currently needed and 200,000 nurses are presently inactive in the United States. Members of the refresher class have diversified backgrounds. Mrs. Mildred Sutton of Novato and her husband, a doctor in the Army Medical Corps, were on a tour of Japan and China when the Japanese invasion began. She recalls meeting Gen. Richard Stilwell on board ship during the trip to the Philippine Islands and he subsequently became the group's expert interpreter during the China tour.

SHE LATER BECAME an army nurse and has also worked at Children's Hospital, in the city, as head nurse on the fourth floor of Marin General Hospital, Sonoma Community Hospital and Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital in evening duty on the medical and surgical wards.

Mrs. Margaret Smetana, whose husband is a professor of political science at University of San Francisco, was a member of the U.S. Army Nurse Corps during the Second World War and participated in the North African and Italian Campaign. She had completed the requirements for the recently revised Health Services credential and for the state 's Department of Health in audiological and vision screening.

HOPING TO MAKE the transition back to nursing through the refresher program, Margaret wants to work part time as well as keep her position as volunteer school nurse at St. Hilary's School.

Another member of the class, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, is the mother of three children and the wife of the district sales manager of Irish Airlines in San Francisco. She was graduated from University of California and a nursing program at Contra Costa College. She has worked on call and part time mostly in postpartum and nursery and plans to work at least two days or nights a week as well as continue her studies.

Mrs. Mary K. Bates hasn't worked in nursing for twelve years. She was graduated from College of Marin and St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco and worked in the nursery and surgery at Marin General.

She worked evenings at Kaiser Clinic in Oakland assisting in obstetrics and multiphasic examinations while working on a bachelor's degree in public health nursing. Her work in earning a PHN certificate was interrupted with the birth of Kate Bates. She and her husband Jerry are also the parents of Pamela, Jerry and John Patrick Bates. # HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Although She's 21, Daughter's Dad Thinks He Must Be Chaperone

DEAR HELEN:

We have a daughter, 21, just finishing college. Since March, she has been dating a local college fellow. He's working his way through, and both are attending summer school so they haven't much time for each other. About once a week he takes her out, and other times he comes over "just to visit."

Here's the problem: my husband thinks they should be chaperoned, and refuses to go to bed until the boy leaves. It becomes an endurance contest, as my man doggedly watches the late, late show, yawning all the way.

I tell him a girl of 21 can take care of herself, especially since the young man seems loaded with honorable intentions. The few times I've gotten him to bed early, he pops up for a "drink of water" or to "check the front room windows" every 15 minutes.

What would you advise? — NOT A MOTHER HEN

DEAR NOT:

. . . A tactful "Hang loose, Snoopy" lecture — and a sleeping pill!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Psychedelic" is a word that is batted around a great deal these days. To some it means "mind-expanding," to others, sensual pleasures in color and sound.

But what does the word really signify? Check the dictionary and you'll find that Psyche stands for "soul," and "dele" (from the Greek "delendre") means "destroy" or "cut out." Therefore, "psychedelic" means "soul-destroying."

Possibly the "psychedelic drugs" were rightly named!—MADELINE

DEAR MAFELINE:

More than possibly — you're right!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I thought I originated the "bet-pounds-off" idea, but see, via HHU, a teen-ager beat me to it.

However, I bet for higher stakes. For each quarter of a pound I lose, my husband gives me a dollar. I won five dollars last week, and spent the money for material to make him a sport shirt . . . which I am sure he'll wear to take his slimming wife to the lake. — LOSE TO WIN, MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.:

With your winning weighs, no one could lose in your family — even when you do!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please ask your readers to drop short letters or cards of cheer to Alice Scherf, c/o Alfred I. Dupont Institute, P. O. Box 269, Wilmington, Del. 19899. She had a back operation in January and won't be off the bed until September when she'll begin to learn to walk again.

You can imagine what it is like for a young teen to spend almost a year in bed. She'll certainly appreciate mail! Thank you. — VANESSA

DEAR HELEN:

I want to thank the hundreds of nice people who have written to me since a friend asked that you include my name in Your Helping Hand Department. I've enjoyed reading every letter and they mean so very much to me. I'll be going home from the hospital soon, and with my Mom's help, I hope to answer as many as possible. People are sure wonderful! — DEBBIE ASMAN, 5604 Seifert Ave., San Jose.

DEAR DEBBIE:

Those who write to you don't really expect answers, for they realize that you will be deluged with mail. Don't try to acknowledge every letter. Instead choose a few for future correspondence. Others will be happy just reading that their efforts have made you happier. — H.

BORROWED FROM THE BOYS

The trend is for men's styles to invade the female hat world this fall, as shown at right in this bowler for milady. But there is also a trend toward the feminine, as illustrated by the Ambrose-designed luxurious sable at left, with its jewelled chin strap. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin Toastmistress Club Elects Nurse As President

A registered nurse is the newly-elected president of Marin Toastmistress Club 651. Mrs. Orrin C. Butler of San Rafael, former program chairman, and secretary-treasurer of the organization, has been named president.

The purpose of the organization is "self improvement by training in skills of communication, speaking, analytical listening and leadership," according to Margaret Butler. Training in speech, public speaking and communication is offered at twice a month dinner meetings, held the second and fourth Thursdays, at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley. "Anyone interested in the program is welcomed to membership," Mrs. Butler says.

A resident of Marin County for five years, Margaret has been a member of the local club for two years.

An avid gardener, the new president rates gardening ahead of her other interests — music, travel and politics.

The wife of Orrin C. Butler, a San Francisco fireman, was educated in Canada. She received her nursing training at St. Paul's Hospital School of Nursing in Vancouver, B.C. She served three years in the Royal Canadian Navy.

With your winning weighs, no one could lose in your family — even when you do!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please ask your readers to drop short letters or cards of cheer to Alice Scherf, c/o Alfred I. Dupont Institute, P. O. Box 269, Wilmington, Del. 19899. She had a back operation in January and won't be off the bed until September when she'll begin to learn to walk again.

You can imagine what it is like for a young teen to spend almost a year in bed. She'll certainly appreciate mail! Thank you. — VANESSA

DEAR HELEN:

I want to thank the hundreds of nice people who have written to me since a friend asked that you include my name in Your Helping Hand Department. I've enjoyed reading every letter and they mean so very much to me. I'll be going home from the hospital soon, and with my Mom's help, I hope to answer as many as possible. People are sure wonderful! — DEBBIE ASMAN, 5604 Seifert Ave., San Jose.

DEAR DEBBIE:

Those who write to you don't really expect answers, for they realize that you will be deluged with mail. Don't try to acknowledge every letter. Instead choose a few for future correspondence. Others will be happy just reading that their efforts have made you happier. — H.

Marin Toastmistress Club Elects Nurse As President

A registered nurse is the newly-elected president of Marin Toastmistress Club 651. Mrs. Orrin C. Butler of San Rafael, former program chairman, and secretary-treasurer of the organization, has been named president.

The purpose of the organization is "self improvement by training in skills of communication, speaking, analytical listening and leadership," according to Margaret Butler. Training in speech, public speaking and communication is offered at twice a month dinner meetings, held the second and fourth Thursdays, at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley. "Anyone interested in the program is welcomed to membership," Mrs. Butler says.

A resident of Marin County for five years, Margaret has been a member of the local club for two years.

An avid gardener, the new president rates gardening ahead of her other interests — music, travel and politics.

The wife of Orrin C. Butler, a San Francisco fireman, was educated in Canada. She received her nursing training at St. Paul's Hospital School of Nursing in Vancouver, B.C. She served three years in the Royal Canadian Navy.

Other officers are Mesdames William Heinemann, first vice president; Ernest Widlund, second vice president; Inez Opitz, recording secretary; David Maxwell, corresponding secretary; William Tanner, treasurer and John Hagel, club representative.

The National Institute of Drycleaning says you can protect them by applying deodorants and antiperspirants properly. Allow them to dry before putting on a garment which touches the area of the body so treated.

Director Of Paris Couturier Is Sausalito Luncheon Guest

Mme. Simone Prouverelle vivacious directrice of the Paris couturier house of Castillo, was a special guest at a luncheon with international overtones given Friday by Mrs. Constant M. Van Vlierden at her home in Sausalito.

Mme. Prouverelle, who has been mistaken for actress Simone Signoret, reminded some of the guests in looks of actresses Ingrid Bergman who is a friend of hers, and Shelley Winters. She is visiting her attractive blond daughter, Mlle. Florence Prouverelle, press attachee with the French consulate in San Francisco, who was also a guest Friday.

Among Mme. Prouverene's interesting comments were those on Castillo's fashions, which stress elegance, and which are at the oppostie pole from London mod. She said he does a great deal of designing for Elizabeth Arden in this country.

Mrs. Van Vlierden, who as the wife of the first vice president of Bank of America in charge of its foreign branches entertains many distinguished guests from other countries, had invited several other guests with foreign backgrounds.

These were Mrs. Mevrouw V. G. Van Der Sleesen-Blansfield of the Hague, wife of the Bank of America representative in the Netherlands, and Mrs. Michel Simon, the Spanish wife of the Bank of America representative in Spain.

Mrs. Van Der Sleesen-Blansfield, a singer who studied music at Dominican College, fomerly lived in Greenbrae and she and her husband still have a house there. Her sister, Mrs. Thor Haugen of San Francisco was also a guest.

Rebekah Instruction

Mrs. Peggy Dahl, district deputy president of District 61, will conduct a school of instruction at Golden Star Rebekah Lodge 112 at 8 p.m. on Thursday at the Odd Fellows Temple, San Rafael. ### Piano Teacher Transcribes Braille Music

Mrs. Sibyl Schneller, Mill Valley piano teacher, has received from the U.S. Library of Congress her certificate as a transcriber of Braille music. She has had a literary certificate for transcription of Braille for a year.

Mrs. Schneller undertook the music transcription training as a result of the interest of her music sorority, Mu Phi Epsilon, in supplying blind people with music through the cooperation of Rose Resnick, executive secretary for the California League for the Handicapped.

The sorority provided three members, including Mrs. Schneller, with the machines necessary to do the transcription. They now can transcribe any musical composition for voice or any instrument.

Mrs. Schneller is also a member of the Transcribing Mariners, a group of Marin people who meet once a month in private homes in Larkspur to do transcription of books and music into Braille.

COLD WATER'S OK

Science Throws Wet Blanket On Theory

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UPI)—When you tire of arguing about sparing the rod and poiling the child, try the newest controversial subject—cold versus hot water laundering.

Cold water was good enough for our ancestors. They sloshed their togs in the waters of a river. Then someone thought of hot water, then soap. Then came the automatic washer and dryer, followed by a cafeteria of detergents.

Today, after much research, science is finding cold water okay. At least, a group of researchers at a Colgate-Palmolive laboratory here declare that after doing a bit of washing both ways.

Cold water, laced with cold water detergent powder, they found, not only cleans clothes well but also leaves them bacteria-free after drying.

The test was conducted on two soiled articles taken from a typical family laundry, a bedsheet and a T-shirt, both of which were washed in home laundry machines in normal wash loads.

The bedsheet was cut in half and one half washed in hot water (120 degrees) with a hot water detergent, and the other half washed in 80-degree water with cold water powder detergent.

Each half then went through a laundry machine rinse cycle and the spin dry cycle and then was removed and put in a home dryer. After each cycle, swatches were cut from each half of the bedsheet and placed in sterile jars for a bacteria count.

The tests showed that the final swatches possessed very few acteria, no matter whether cold or hot water was used for the washing cycle.

The research continued. The T-shirt was cut in half and put through the same washing process. But after the spin-dry cycle, instead of putting each half in a home dryer, the scientists put the two pieces outdoors to dry in the sun and then sent them to the lab for the bacteriological count.

Same results as before. The testers, headed by Dr. Raymond C. Odioso, said the results knocked down the belief that hot water alone is an assured bacteria killer.

No one, however, asked homemakers whether they prefer the warmth of hot water over the chilling from cold water.

The deadliest animal in the forest

It moves quite slowly. It is one of the easiest animals to track. It has a poor sense of smell, sight and hearing. It is reluctant to travel at night or alone. But it is cunning, unpredictable, and not even the forest itself is safe in this animals presence. For the deadliest animal-the animal that causes nine out of ten forest fires-is man. Careless man. So be careful. Our forests and wildlife are too precious.

Please-only you can prevent forest fires.

Piano Teacher Transcribes Braille Music

Mrs. Sibyl Schneller, Mill Valley piano teacher, has received from the U.S. Library of Congress her certificate as a transcriber of Braille music. She has had a literary certificate for transcription of Braille for a year.

Mrs. Schneller undertook the music transcription training as a result of the interest of her music sorority, Mu Phi Epsilon, in supplying blind people with music through the cooperation of Rose Resnick, executive secretary for the California League for the Handicapped.

The sorority provided three members, including Mrs. Schneller, with the machines necessary to do the transcription. They now can transcribe any musical composition for voice or any instrument.

Mrs. Schneller is also a member of the Transcribing Mariners, a group of Marin people who meet once a month in private homes in Larkspur to do transcription of books and music into Braille.

The deadliest animal in the forest

It moves quite slowly. It is one of the easiest animals to track. It has a poor sense of smell, sight and hearing. It is reluctant to travel at night or alone. But it is cunning, unpredictable, and not even the forest itself is safe in this animals presence. For the deadliest animal-the animal that causes nine out of ten forest fires-is man. Careless man. So be careful. Our forests and wildlife are too precious.

Please-only you can prevent forest fires.

Tear Gas Drives Out Slaying Suspects

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 50 tense FBI agents moved in and circled the old white apartment building, guns ready.

"Mationg! Bono!" the loudspeaker bellowed, shattering the dawn. "Come out now! Come out with your hands up!"

Again the loudspeaker bellowed. No response.

The FBI didn't ask again. Tear gas shells were fired through the windows, filling the upstairs apartment with acrid, stinging fumes.

BACK DOWN

A door flew open and a man, his hands held high, backed slowly down the steps. As soon as he was grabbed by agents, a second man appeared and walked backward down the step, his hands high.

That ended the wide, intensive manhunt for two men accused of murdering two U.S. Border Patrol officers last month.

Arrested in the early morning raid yesterday in the central Los Angeles area were Victor Gerald Bono, 28, of Perris, Riverside County, and Florencio Mationg, 33, Los Angeles. Agents said the men had a machine pistol and five other handguns in the apartment, and ample ammunition.

TIPPED OFF

Special agent Wesley Grapp of the FBI said his agents learned early yesterday that Mationg and Bono—on the FBI's list of the 10 most wanted men—were hiding in the old frame building.

"We rushed more than 50 men to the scene and quietly evacuated 40 residents of the building and five persons in a building next door," Grapp explained.

"Before dawn, we halted all foot and auto traffic and waited until the sun rose."

Bono and Mationg were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Russell Hermann on two counts each of premeditated murder and one count each of assaulting a federal officer.

They were held without bail on the murder charges. Bail of $50,000 each was set on the assault charges. A preliminary hearing was set for July 28.

About seven hours after the raid, Daniel Joseph Pompa, 26, was arrested and booked at the county jail on suspicion of harboring a fugitive. Agents had said earlier they thought Pompa was traveling with Bono and Mationg last week.

Bono and Mationg — along with brothers Harold Montoya, 30, and Alfred Arthur Montoya, 33 — are accused of murdering border patrolmen George Zarak, 21, and Theodore Newton, 24, last June 19. Their bodies were found chained to a stove in an abandoned shack in a remote area of Riverside County. Both had been shot in the head.

The patrolmen disappeared June 17 after setting up a routine roadblock to check for narcotics smuggling and illegal aliens. Officials said they apparently stumbled onto one of the biggest marijuana smuggling operations in California history.

The Montoya brothers — who were arrested earlier in Mexico and sent to Tucson, Ariz. —told officers they were working with Mationg and Bono, smuggling in 800 pounds of marijuana.

Officers said Bono was wanted at the time for jumping bail. They said he was arrested last March when a cache of more than 2,000 pounds of marijuana was seized.

SUSPECTS CAPTURED—Florencio Mationg, 33 left) and Victor Bono, 28, sought for months as suspects in the slaying of two U.S. Border Patrol officers, enter an elevator in the Federal Building in Los Angeles yesterday on their way to arraignment on murder charges. They were captured earlier in the day in an old apartment building several miles from downtown Los Angeles.

Students Ask End To War In Vietnam

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Some 300 graduate students from 46 campuses across the country have urged President Johnson to end military action against North Vietnam and begin negotiations with the Viet Cong.

The request came in a letter signed by 313 students, all studying on fellowships awarded by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

The students told the president they were "ashamed to see the United States using its military might against a small under-developed country, inflicting extensive destruction upon the people and nation of Vietnam.

"It is our feeling that we must reverse the present direction of our policy, which seems to be heading toward a disastrous confrontation with mainland China and the Soviet Union. We call on you to end all military action against North Vietnam, and to initiate negotiations with the national Liberation Front.

Kenneth Kann, a graduate student at the University of California at Berkeley and a national coordinator in drafting the letter said the Woodrow Wilson Foundation had no connection with the letter.

A 5-year-old Petaluma girl, Donna Susan Thiele, drowned in a Tiburon swimming pool yesterday when she removed or slipped out of a plastic foam life preserver she was wearing.

The older sister dived in and brought the girl up, then gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until an ambulance arrived.

A doctor applied closed cardiac massage for 15 minutes at Marin General Hospital, but the girl did not respond and was pronounced dead at 6:35 p.m.

Marin City Set Fires Cause County Probe

Incendiarists, who have been plaguing county firemen in Marin City since June 29, struck again last night, this time setting four more small grass fires.

County Fire Chief Louis Bloom said the fires were "definitely set purposely."

There were, however, no rock throwing incidents such as the one during a fire last Wednesday night.

Firemen were summoned to the first blaze yesterday at 4:07 p.m. on the hill behind Manzanita School. The fire burned about 50 by 100 square feet but caused no damage.

A series of three more fires were reported at 10:24 p.m. and 11:40 p.m. behind Cole Drive. All were quickly extinguished, causing no damage.

The Sheriff's Department has released no reports of arson or incendiarism at Marin City.

Bloom, however, said county fire and sheriff's departments are conducting a joint investigation into the incidents which began June 29 when arsonists struck the Manzanita School, a building of the Marin County Housing Authority, and the Marin City fire station.

Seven small grass fires were reported last Thursday night on the hills behind Drake and Cole avenues. The following evening, two more were set in the same area.

"There is no possible way those fires could have started that far from the highway," Bloom reported for the third time since Thursday.

He said he foresees no immediate end to the incidents which, he said, have probably been set "to harass the firemen and keep them occupied for some reason."

Marijuana Suspect Pleads For Change In Trial Area

A 27-year-old man, appearing in Marin Superior Court today to plead innocent to a charge of possessing marijuana, asked Judge Joseph G. Wilson for a change of venue for his trial.

Otis Ward told the court he wanted the change "because there is something personal going on against me in the district attorney's office."

He said he came to this conclusion as a result of his arrest Thursday along with six others at their home at M-66 at Hilarita Housing, Tiburon, on a further charge of narcotic possession.

Ward said sheriff's officers "entered my home by illegal means." No complaints after Thursday's arrest were subsequently filed and all defendants — except Ward — were released. Ward was held in jail pending investigation of an outstanding warrant for parole violation.

Judge Wilson today deferred a decision on the change of venue request pending a formal presentation of the motion. He advised Ward to retain a defense lawyer, but Ward replied: "I can best be served by myself."

Trial date was set for the week of Oct. 2. Ward was arrested June 6 for marijuana possession after he and three others were found playing drums in a deserted house above Waldo Grade.

Town Council Will Consider Land Purchase

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider purchasing a $67,377 corporation yard on Lucky Drive, west of Fifer Avenue today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

The owners, Carl E. Priest and Stanley A. Weigel, have agreed to accept the amount budgeted for the property, according to Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher.

An occupancy permit for Mariner Green apartment complex on Paradise Drive will be considered again.

The council may call for bids on materials for beautification improvements, estimated to cost $5,350, and will consider a nuisance caused by excessive weeds at 251 Sausalito Street, the home of Ruth Alford.

An ordinance increasing fees charged by the Marin County Humane Society for animal services may be adopted.

Treated For Pills

Mrs. Fay I. McTaggart, 40, of 58 Shelley Drive, Mill Valley, was treated overnight Friday at Marin General Hospital after she told police she took "some pills" of an unknown type. Police and an ambulance were called to her home at 2:49 p.m. Friday.

Psychiatrists Gain Approval For Office

Five Marin psychiatrists were granted permission today by Marin County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill to convert a duplex residence at 1135-39 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, near Ross General Hospital, for office space, provided adequate off-street parking is set aside.

Application was by Dr. William J. Dickerson of Kentfield.

Cordill also permitted the Pacifica Foundation to operate a cultural fair re-creating the Elizabethan era Oct. 7-8 and 14-15 off North San Pedro Road in Santa Venetia, three-quarters of a mile east of Upper Road. To be called the Renaissance Pleasure Faire and Ha'penny Market, the event will feature arts and crafts, food and entertainment of the era, and benefit educational radio station KPFA in Berkeley.

A hearing on a use permit for Barney G. Glaser to stable a horse in a single family residential area at 240 Redwood Drive, Woodacre, was continued until 11:30 a.m. July 31, and a hearing on a variance application by William A. Wilson on 14 Janes Street, Homestead Valley, for a second-story bedroom and living room addition was continued indefinitely for consideration of other remodeling plans.

Pinballs Get Gate In Novato

Harry Simon, owner of Harry's Pool Parlor at 1062 Machin Avenue, Novato, has agreed to remove the pinball machines from that pool hall, Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said today.

The question of the pinball machines in the pool hall was brought up at last Tuesday's meeting of the Novato City Council by Mayor J. Wayne Womack. He said he had reports that they were being installed and thought that they were illegal. The matter was referred to the city staff.

Chief Di Grazia and Det. Sgt. Otto Haiungs investigated last Friday and found the pinball machines were there.

"Simon thought that his city license for amusement games covered them and that they would be legal," the Chief said. Other machines for amusement are legal, but pinballs are illegal, he said.

He said he came to this conclusion as a result of his arrest Thursday along with six others at their home at M-66 at Hilarita Housing, Tiburon, on a further charge of narcotic possession.

Ward said sheriff's officers "entered my home by illegal means." No complaints after Thursday's arrest were subsequently filed and all defendants — except Ward — were released. Ward was held in jail pending investigation of an outstanding warrant for parole violation.

Judge Wilson today deferred a decision on the change of venue request pending a formal presentation of the motion. He advised Ward to retain a defense lawyer, but Ward replied: "I can best be served by myself."

Trial date was set for the week of Oct. 2. Ward was arrested June 6 for marijuana possession after he and three others were found playing drums in a deserted house above Waldo Grade.

Pinballs Get Gate In Novato

Harry Simon, owner of Harry's Pool Parlor at 1062 Machin Avenue, Novato, has agreed to remove the pinball machines from that pool hall, Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said today.

The question of the pinball machines in the pool hall was brought up at last Tuesday's meeting of the Novato City Council by Mayor J. Wayne Womack. He said he had reports that they were being installed and thought that they were illegal. The matter was referred to the city staff.

Chief Di Grazia and Det. Sgt. Otto Haiungs investigated last Friday and found the pinball machines were there.

"Simon thought that his city license for amusement games covered them and that they would be legal," the Chief said. Other machines for amusement are legal, but pinballs are illegal, he said.

Child, 5, Drowns In Tiburon Pool

A 5-year-old Petaluma girl, Donna Susan Thiele, drowned in a Tiburon swimming pool yesterday when she removed or slipped out of a plastic foam life preserver she was wearing.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Thiele, and her 19-year-old sister Elizabeth were visiting the family of Dr. Sherwin U. Miller at 20 Tanfield Road.

Elizabeth said she last saw her sister sitting on steps in the shallow end of the pool, still wearing the life preserver. A moment later she saw Donna at the bottom of the pool in four feet of water.

The older sister dived in and brought the girl up, then gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until an ambulance arrived.

A doctor applied closed cardiac massage for 15 minutes at Marin General Hospital, but the girl did not respond and was pronounced dead at 6:35 p.m.

RIGHT LEAD

When today's hand was played in the recent world championship in Miami Beach, the North American team bid and made three notrump on the North-South cards at the first table of the match. The result would have been a standoff if West had led a club or a heart at the replay table.

Here, however, the Americans sat East-West, and Alvin Roth held the West cards. Roth knew that South had good diamonds and sensed that he had good hearts, the unbid suit, from the conviction with which he had bid three notrump.

Roth therefore decided to lead one or dummy suits.

There was little future in the clubs, but the spades looked promising. Roth decided to lead the queen rather than a low spade because South might have the singleton 10 or jack of spades.

KILLING LEAD

It was a killing lead. South played low from the dummy, assuming that West had led from a suit headed by queen-jack. When Roth continued with the seven of spades, declarer tried a finesse with dummy's 10.

East won with the jack of spades and returned a heart.

900 POINTS

South ducked, and Roth won with the 10 of hearts. Back came the deuce of spades, and South was sure to lose five spades and a heart. He actually lost another trick, suffering a penalty of 300 points in addition to the 600 points that his teammates had lost at the first table of the match.

Just one imaginative opening lead brought in 900 points.

You have 11 points in high cards, and two points for the singleton, but your high-card structure is poor. Moreover, you should not count two points for the queen of clubs and an additional two points for the fact that it is a singleton.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Varicose Veins Rarely Improve Without Medical Treatment

VAN DELLEN

Almost everyone knows someone with varicose veins. They are considered unsightly by women and when neglected may lead to discoloration, swelling of the ankles, or ulcers of the leg. Treatment is needed because they rarely improve spontaneously. More important, they disturb normal circulation to the limb.

Our lower extremities receive blood via a single artery but there are two sets of veins carrying the fluid back. The main vein is deep and surrounded by muscles; the others are on the surface where they have no support and, under certain conditions, could stretch and become varicosed.

THE VEIN wall is thinner than that of the artery. In addition there are a series of valves on the inside that open permitting blood to be pumped toward the heart with each contraction. Between beats, gravity pulls the blood toward the feet and the valves close to prevent blood from falling more than an inch or two.

Varicose veins are in the making when the passageway stretches and the valves are pulled apart. When this occurs, blood drops toward the feet between each pause of the heart beat. This results in greater stretching of the vein and a vicious circle starts. Blood stagnates in the feet and tissues suffer.

MANY PERSONS with varicosities have an inherent weakness of the vein wall. Prolonged standing leads to stretching because, in susceptible persons, the back pressure in the vein is increased. Pregnancy may do the same especially when the enlarged uterus presses upon the veins. Supportive stockings or pressure bandages help to prevent additional stretching and may relieve the tired or aching feeling that some victims develop.

Other methods of treatment are available but before anything is done the physician makes sure that the deep vein is open. If it is, the varicose veins are removed via injection or surgery.

CHICKEN POX REPEATS

Mrs. V. A. writes: My neighbors won't believe that my son had chicken pox twice. Please comment, as we all read your column.

REPLY

Recurrences are rare but if your physician made this diagnosis on two occasions, it must be so. I assume your youngster has been vaccinated against smallpox.

TENSE MUSCLES

Mrs. R. A. writes: Are tension headaches due to mental or physical stress?

REPLY

As a rule, tension is of mental or emotional origin although the effect is physical. Pain stems from tightness or contraction of the scalp muscles. Occasionally physical causes play a role, especially when associated with fatigue.

LACKS SOMETHING

E. M. M. writes: What is meant by a deficiency disease?

REPLY

Diseases that develop when the body fails to obtain or to utilize substances that are essential to its well being. Examples are anemia (iron or vitamin B12), scurvy (vitamin C), beriberi (thiamine), and sprue (folic acid).

ALL 206?

C. J. writes: Please list the names of all the bones of the body.

REPLY

There are so many — 206 — we do not have the space. The song, "Dry Bones" gives a general idea of the anatomy of our bony skeleton.

Wylma Cunningham Is Retiring Teacher

As thousands of San Rafael residents and former San Rafael High School students know, her name is Wylma Cunningham. The "m" was dropped by mistake in the story Saturday. To most residents and former students, anyhow, Miss Cunningham is better known as "Cookie."

Farm Workers Delay Ballot On Union Choice

MARYSVILLE (AP) — Officials announced the indefinite postponement of a scheduled union representation election of the Di Giorgio Corp.'s Yuba County ranches.

The election had been scheduled for tomorrow. The announcement followed a weekend meeting between officials of Di Giorgio and the Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

The union was believed to have sought the delay because of the unusually small number of workers on the job now—225 compared with a normal of about 700 for this time in July. Crop work was set back by poor spring weather.

A state-appointed arbitrator is scheduled to hold a hearing in Marysville Friday on unfair labor practices charges brought by the organizing committee against the corporation.

Blasting Cap Find Dangerous To Couple

RENO, Nev (AP)—Police said Thomas F. McConaghy, 23, found a blasting cap in an auto wrecking lot yesterday, took the cap home and was using a fork to pry it open when—

McConaghy lost the thumb and forefinger on his left hand. His wife Linda, 21, suffered an injury to her left eye and was taken to a hospital for surgery.

The Coast Guard transported Humphrey by boat to Tiburon to meet the ambulance at 3:15 p.m. Humphrey told Deputy Joseph G. Kelly he was "horsing around in a tree and fell out of it."

Steering Wheel Gone

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Varicose Veins Rarely Improve Without Medical Treatment

VAN DELLEN

Almost everyone knows someone with varicose veins. They are considered unsightly by women and when neglected may lead to discoloration, swelling of the ankles, or ulcers of the leg. Treatment is needed because they rarely improve spontaneously. More important, they disturb normal circulation to the limb.

Our lower extremities receive blood via a single artery but there are two sets of veins carrying the fluid back. The main vein is deep and surrounded by muscles; the others are on the surface where they have no support and, under certain conditions, could stretch and become varicosed.

THE VEIN wall is thinner than that of the artery. In addition there are a series of valves on the inside that open permitting blood to be pumped toward the heart with each contraction. Between beats, gravity pulls the blood toward the feet and the valves close to prevent blood from falling more than an inch or two.

Varicose veins are in the making when the passageway stretches and the valves are pulled apart. When this occurs, blood drops toward the feet between each pause of the heart beat. This results in greater stretching of the vein and a vicious circle starts. Blood stagnates in the feet and tissues suffer.

MANY PERSONS with varicosities have an inherent weakness of the vein wall. Prolonged standing leads to stretching because, in susceptible persons, the back pressure in the vein is increased. Pregnancy may do the same especially when the enlarged uterus presses upon the veins. Supportive stockings or pressure bandages help to prevent additional stretching and may relieve the tired or aching feeling that some victims develop.

Other methods of treatment are available but before anything is done the physician makes sure that the deep vein is open. If it is, the varicose veins are removed via injection or surgery.

CHICKEN POX REPEATS

Mrs. V. A. writes: My neighbors won't believe that my son had chicken pox twice. Please comment, as we all read your column.

REPLY

Recurrences are rare but if your physician made this diagnosis on two occasions, it must be so. I assume your youngster has been vaccinated against smallpox.

TENSE MUSCLES

Mrs. R. A. writes: Are tension headaches due to mental or physical stress?

REPLY

As a rule, tension is of mental or emotional origin although the effect is physical. Pain stems from tightness or contraction of the scalp muscles. Occasionally physical causes play a role, especially when associated with fatigue.

LACKS SOMETHING

E. M. M. writes: What is meant by a deficiency disease?

REPLY

Diseases that develop when the body fails to obtain or to utilize substances that are essential to its well being. Examples are anemia (iron or vitamin B12), scurvy (vitamin C), beriberi (thiamine), and sprue (folic acid).

ALL 206?

C. J. writes: Please list the names of all the bones of the body.

REPLY

There are so many — 206 — we do not have the space. The song, "Dry Bones" gives a general idea of the anatomy of our bony skeleton.

Wylma Cunningham Is Retiring Teacher

As thousands of San Rafael residents and former San Rafael High School students know, her name is Wylma Cunningham. The "m" was dropped by mistake in the story Saturday. To most residents and former students, anyhow, Miss Cunningham is better known as "Cookie."

Farm Workers Delay Ballot On Union Choice

MARYSVILLE (AP) — Officials announced the indefinite postponement of a scheduled union representation election of the Di Giorgio Corp.'s Yuba County ranches.

The election had been scheduled for tomorrow. The announcement followed a weekend meeting between officials of Di Giorgio and the Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

The union was believed to have sought the delay because of the unusually small number of workers on the job now—225 compared with a normal of about 700 for this time in July. Crop work was set back by poor spring weather.

A state-appointed arbitrator is scheduled to hold a hearing in Marysville Friday on unfair labor practices charges brought by the organizing committee against the corporation.

Blasting Cap Find Dangerous To Couple

RENO, Nev (AP)—Police said Thomas F. McConaghy, 23, found a blasting cap in an auto wrecking lot yesterday, took the cap home and was using a fork to pry it open when—

McConaghy lost the thumb and forefinger on his left hand. His wife Linda, 21, suffered an injury to her left eye and was taken to a hospital for surgery.

Citizen TV Group Gets New Director

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —My friend Ben has a new job, an important one, and since his target is you and your help, I hope you pay attention to him and are nice to him if he comes your way.

Ben is Ben Kubasik, and last week it was announced that starting July 31 he will be executive director of the National Citizens Committee for Public Television.

Thomas P.F. Hoving, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and chairman of the committee, had this to say about Ben and his new job:

"Mr. Kubasik's effective public relations leadership on behalf of public broadcasting with the Ford Foundation and, before that, on behalf of public service programming while with CBS News made him the outstanding choice for the committee's executive diector."

"I would hope that everybody who wants strong public broadcasting will unite behind and work with the committee and Mr. Kubasik to begin to speak to the American people in a single, clear voice about public broadcasting's accomplishments and goals now and in the future."

Well, those are very nice words, of course, but maybe I can tell you a little more directly why you should listen to Ben when he starts issuing statements and making the rounds. His cause, of course, is excellent. But beside that, Ben has never learned to tell anything but the truth. He is as straight as they come, and he will not try to sell you a bill of goods unless he can back it in good conscience. If he can't he'll quit. That's Ben.

Ben's background for this job includes working with McGeorge Bundy and Fred Friendly at the Ford Foundation when that organization electrified the television world with a proposal for a domestic satellite system which could save commercial networks enough money to support educational video.

In short, he has been identified with those who have sought an interconnected public network instead of the Carnegie Commission's local level emphasis, which is most likely to succeed. But a public television formula is still far from set because of its newness, and there will be adjustments, and Ben is a good man to have on the inside while those changes go on.

Ben is a young fellow, full of quiet but passionate beliefs, and has a newsman's instinct for going to the heart of a matter.

Police Taxing Idea Revived

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, which rejected the idea of a county service area for police protection six months ago, will reconsider the proposal tomorrow.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

The Marin City-County Services Committee will present the unchanged plan. Under it, the patrol functions and other services now financed by county-wide taxes would be borne by taxpayers in the unincorporated area.

In other business, the supervisors are scheduled to compare costs of installing road reflectors in lieu of more lights with poles on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at White's Hill, and consider supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen's request to reopen the West Marin Master Plan hearings.

College Instructors' Works To Be Shown

Arts and crafts by seven College of Marin instructors will be on display at the July Invitational Show at the Francis Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, through July 30.

Farhad Moezzi, a ceramics instructor, also is the chairman of the show. Other instructors and their fields are: Gil White and Alton Raible, painting; Harry Crotty, ceramics; Freida Burkhart, mosaics; Nancy Kenaly, weaving, and Allan Weidenhofer, pottery.

Channel Chuckles

Salvage Foam Tests In Bay

Driving operations to test the use of foam in ship salvage will be held off Campbell Point north of Angel Island next month, the Army Corps of Engineers has announced.

The tests by Murphy Pacific Marine Salvage Company will be held Aug. 7 through Sept. 14. A barge will be moored at the site Aug. 7-10 and 14-16, and diving will be conducted Aug. 7-9 and 14-15.

Buoys will be at the site to mark foam samples until September 14.

Fairfax Trustees To Set Budget

Fairfax School District trustees tomorrow will consider publication of its fiscal 1967-68 budget, tentatively set in May at $698,000, approximately 10 per cent above last year's.

Public hearing on the budget has been set for Aug. 1. Tomorrow's board meeting will be at 7:45 p.m. in the district office, 58 Park Road.

The board will also continue discussion of heating problems at Manor School and will hear a report on construction progress at White High School.

Bagley Decries Burton Backers Campaign Tactic

Backers of John Burton for State Senate are resorting to "totally improper use of state letterhead stationery," Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael declared today.

Bagley, who is supporting Judge Milton Marks, referred to a letter endorsing Burton circulated by Mrs. Marian Ash, outgoing executive secretary to the Advisory Commission on the Status of Women. The letter was written on official stationery of the commission. Bagley's name appears on the letterhead.

"I want to make it perfectly clear that I totally support Milton Marks for senator," said Bagley. "I object very strongly to my name printed on this letterhead, and the good name of the Status of Women Commission, of which I am a member, being abused by this improper and indefensible tactic."

Youngster Mending

Double Crash On Bridge Hurts Five

Five persons were injured when a solo car crash led to a two-car collision on the Richardson Bay Bridge at 2:10 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

First, a car driven by James D. Schroeder, 20, of the Carmel Hotel, 830 D Street, San Rafael, traveling south of Highway 101 struck westside of a guard rail and then crossed the traffic lanes and struck a steel center divider at the north end of the bridge, officers said.

Schroeder, who suffered a cerebral concussion, was taken to Marin General Hospital, where he was reported in fair condition today.

Moments later a southbound car driven by Bernard D. Montbriand, 30, of 213 Alpine Street, San Rafael, collided with rear of a car driven by Michael Watts, 24, 875 Burnett Avenue, San Francisco, about 400 feet south of the first accident.

Watts had slowed because of the Schroeder accident and was starting to accelerate when the collision occurred, officers said.

Injured were Watt, facial cut and sprained right hand, and three passengers in his car; Kathleen Norris, 23, Menlo Park, neck strain, Richard Ackerman, 24, San Francisco, facial cut, and Carole Gaughenbaugh, 25, San Francisco, cut forehead. All were treated at Marin General Hospital and sent home.

Jury Says Firm Guilty Of Libel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An $880,000 libel verdict has been returned against the Owl - Rexall Drug Co.

A jury deliberated 18 hours Saturday before reaching agreement on a claim by Samuel Ray Calabrese of Beverly Hills that the company had ruined his financial reputation after he was unable to meet payments on four stores he had purchased.

The drug store operator contended that the company told his creditors he was $250,000 in debt, ruining his reputation and forcing him into bankruptcy.

Calabrese realized a net judgment of $550,000.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Citizen TV Group Gets New Director

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —My friend Ben has a new job, an important one, and since his target is you and your help, I hope you pay attention to him and are nice to him if he comes your way.

Ben is Ben Kubasik, and last week it was announced that starting July 31 he will be executive director of the National Citizens Committee for Public Television.

Thomas P.F. Hoving, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and chairman of the committee, had this to say about Ben and his new job:

"Mr. Kubasik's effective public relations leadership on behalf of public broadcasting with the Ford Foundation and, before that, on behalf of public service programming while with CBS News made him the outstanding choice for the committee's executive diector."

"I would hope that everybody who wants strong public broadcasting will unite behind and work with the committee and Mr. Kubasik to begin to speak to the American people in a single, clear voice about public broadcasting's accomplishments and goals now and in the future."

Well, those are very nice words, of course, but maybe I can tell you a little more directly why you should listen to Ben when he starts issuing statements and making the rounds. His cause, of course, is excellent. But beside that, Ben has never learned to tell anything but the truth. He is as straight as they come, and he will not try to sell you a bill of goods unless he can back it in good conscience. If he can't he'll quit. That's Ben.

Ben's background for this job includes working with McGeorge Bundy and Fred Friendly at the Ford Foundation when that organization electrified the television world with a proposal for a domestic satellite system which could save commercial networks enough money to support educational video.

In short, he has been identified with those who have sought an interconnected public network instead of the Carnegie Commission's local level emphasis, which is most likely to succeed. But a public television formula is still far from set because of its newness, and there will be adjustments, and Ben is a good man to have on the inside while those changes go on.

Police Taxing Idea Revived

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

The Marin City-County Services Committee will present the unchanged plan. Under it, the patrol functions and other services now financed by county-wide taxes would be borne by taxpayers in the unincorporated area.

College Instructors' Works To Be Shown

Arts and crafts by seven College of Marin instructors will be on display at the July Invitational Show at the Francis Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, through July 30.

Farhad Moezzi, a ceramics instructor, also is the chairman of the show. Other instructors and their fields are: Gil White and Alton Raible, painting; Harry Crotty, ceramics; Freida Burkhart, mosaics; Nancy Kenaly, weaving, and Allan Weidenhofer, pottery.

Channel Chuckles

Salvage Foam Tests In Bay

Driving operations to test the use of foam in ship salvage will be held off Campbell Point north of Angel Island next month, the Army Corps of Engineers has announced.

The tests by Murphy Pacific Marine Salvage Company will be held Aug. 7 through Sept. 14. A barge will be moored at the site Aug. 7-10 and 14-16, and diving will be conducted Aug. 7-9 and 14-15.

Fairfax Trustees To Set Budget

Fairfax School District trustees tomorrow will consider publication of its fiscal 1967-68 budget, tentatively set in May at $698,000, approximately 10 per cent above last year's.

Public hearing on the budget has been set for Aug. 1. Tomorrow's board meeting will be at 7:45 p.m. in the district office, 58 Park Road.

The board will also continue discussion of heating problems at Manor School and will hear a report on construction progress at White High School.

Bagley Decries Burton Backers Campaign Tactic

Backers of John Burton for State Senate are resorting to "totally improper use of state letterhead stationery," Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael declared today.

Bagley, who is supporting Judge Milton Marks, referred to a letter endorsing Burton circulated by Mrs. Marian Ash, outgoing executive secretary to the Advisory Commission on the Status of Women. The letter was written on official stationery of the commission. Bagley's name appears on the letterhead.

"I want to make it perfectly clear that I totally support Milton Marks for senator," said Bagley. "I object very strongly to my name printed on this letterhead, and the good name of the Status of Women Commission, of which I am a member, being abused by this improper and indefensible tactic."

Youngster Mending

Double Crash On Bridge Hurts Five

Five persons were injured when a solo car crash led to a two-car collision on the Richardson Bay Bridge at 2:10 a.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

First, a car driven by James D. Schroeder, 20, of the Carmel Hotel, 830 D Street, San Rafael, traveling south of Highway 101 struck westside of a guard rail and then crossed the traffic lanes and struck a steel center divider at the north end of the bridge, officers said.

Schroeder, who suffered a cerebral concussion, was taken to Marin General Hospital, where he was reported in fair condition today.

Moments later a southbound car driven by Bernard D. Montbriand, 30, of 213 Alpine Street, San Rafael, collided with rear of a car driven by Michael Watts, 24, 875 Burnett Avenue, San Francisco, about 400 feet south of the first accident.

Watts had slowed because of the Schroeder accident and was starting to accelerate when the collision occurred, officers said.

Injured were Watt, facial cut and sprained right hand, and three passengers in his car; Kathleen Norris, 23, Menlo Park, neck strain, Richard Ackerman, 24, San Francisco, facial cut, and Carole Gaughenbaugh, 25, San Francisco, cut forehead. All were treated at Marin General Hospital and sent home.

Jury Says Firm Guilty Of Libel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An $880,000 libel verdict has been returned against the Owl - Rexall Drug Co.

A jury deliberated 18 hours Saturday before reaching agreement on a claim by Samuel Ray Calabrese of Beverly Hills that the company had ruined his financial reputation after he was unable to meet payments on four stores he had purchased.

The drug store operator contended that the company told his creditors he was $250,000 in debt, ruining his reputation and forcing him into bankruptcy.

Calabrese realized a net judgment of $550,000.

Uncle Sam 'Loaded' For Pan-Am Games

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — "This team will do very well in Winnipeg, even without some good sprinters. Who's going to stop us?"

That was the appraisal today by Head Coach Cornelius (Dutch) Warmerdam of the freshly-selected United States track and field squad heading soon for the fifth Pan-American Games at Winnipeg, Can., July 23-Aug. 5.

Actually, the 47-member men's squad and 23-member women's team determined after last weekend's trials at the University of Minnesota won't get into Pan-Am action until July 29 —two weeks hence.

Dutch was referring to such sprinters as Tommie Smith, Charlie Greene and Jim Hines, who for one reason or another, skipped the 17-event trials from which peerless miler Jim Ryun also absented himself.

At that, this may be the strongest track array Uncle Sam has sent into the Pan-Am Games which are a hemispheric preview of the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

In the weekend trials, existing Pan-Am records were handily surpassed in 13 of the 17 men's events and in six of the nine women's events.

Most noteworthy was a world record-matching performance by Southern California's NCAA champion, Earl McCulloch, who yesterday won the 110-meter high hurdles in 13.2.

McCulloch, a fine Trojan flanker back in football, whipped National AAU champion Willie Davenport by four yards as he equalled the world mark set by Germany's Martin Lauer in 1959 and matched by the USA's Lee Calhoun in 1960.

The 30-year-old Grelle, pegged the best Pan-Am 1,500 meter fill-in for Ryun, was elbowed out of a berth by Tom Von Ruden, ex-Oklahoma State star, and Kent State's Sam Bair, both clocked in the modest time of 3:49.8.

Another 1963 Pan-Am champ who failed to make it was high jumper Gene Johnson, who yielded to Arizona's Ed Caruthers (7-2) and Nevada's Otis Burrell (7-0). Johnson was third at 6-10.

Befitting an old polevaulter, Coach Warmerdam takes probably the world's two best vaulters to Winnipeg. The pair, Southern California's Paul Wil-

MAYS IMPROVING, MAY MAKE THE TRIP EAST

Giant publicist Garry Shumaker said today, "We're hoping he can make the trip tonight, but there's no way of knowing yet. It's up to the doctors."

The Giants fly to Pittsburgh tonight to begin a short road trip that has them scheduled for eight games in six days there and in Chicago.

Meanwhile, St. Louis lost pitching ace Bob Gibson for a month or more after he suffered a broken leg Saturday in a loss to Pittsburgh.

Cubs' Pennant Hopes Rekindled After Sweep

'Old Pro' Banks Is Giant-Killer

Both the slugging and the singing were in tune Sunday as the second-place Cubs swept a doubleheader from the San Francisco Giants, 9-0 and 3-2, to climb within two games of League-leading St. Louis.

The two teams concluded their three-game series today with the Giant's Ray Sadecki 3-0 opposing former University of California star Rich Nye 8-5 in a battle of left-handers.

"Isn't this great," he said, imploring passing reporters. "Isn't this just great for baseball? Imagine, ths Cubs fighting for the pennant."

Banks' joy and enthusiasm are understandable when you figure in all 14 years he has been with the Cubs they never once have finished out of the second division.

"You ask me why we are playing so well this year," said Banks, "and I'm goint to tell you. First, because the manager (Leo Durocher) has done one of the best jobs I've ever seen and second because, strange as it may seem, we have developed aggressiveness and no one takes us for patsies anymore.

"After so many years of being stepped on by the other guys and listening to so many jokes about us, it sure feels good to be on top. You just can't believe how good."

Banks, who hit only 15 homers last year and went to spring camp this year figuring on being a backup man to San Anselmo's John Boccabella at first base, now has 17 homers on the year and is thinking about hitting 30 this season.

THINKING THIRTY

"The way I feel right now and with the other guys in the lineup hitting as well as they are," explained Ernie, "I don't think I'm being unrealistic in thinking about 30 homers."

The other guys Banks was speaking about are Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Adolfo Phillips. Santo, like Ernie, has

His Cup Runneth Over With Olives 'n' Things

FORE — My report here last week about San Geronimo golf pro Tom McHugh winning the olive-swallowing trophy for his complete collapse on the final three holes of a recent pro tourney brought this retort from Tom:

TAR TERRORS—Say, the 1963 College of Marin football team has been quite good to the professional ranks. Three Tar teammates of '63 have been drafted by pro teams and will be reporting to training camps any edition now — Elmer Collett with the 49ers, Martin Baccablio to the San Diego Chargers and Lyle Baucom to the Washington Redskins.

SMALL WORLD — And speaking of same, Harry Del Grande of Marvelous Marin took his son David to last week's All-Star game at Anaheim and sat directly behind Frank Tessin, who only happens to be their neighbor. Five hundred miles from home, crowd of 47,000 . . . yes, it is a diminutive globe.

Marin Golfers Like Brigham Young

Young Don expects a busy week as the 72 holes of medal play will be followed by match play if the Hawk qualifies.

Don, who will enroll at Bringham Young University this fall on a golf scholarship, travelled to the Trans-Miss with BYU stars John Miller and Ron O'Conner, both of San Francisco.

Incidentally, BYU will have Marin stars on its golf teams for several years to come. Ex-Redwood star Buzz Beattie is already there, Hawken is next and Novato ace Ray Leach will follow in their footsteps when he graduates next year.

Two Marin Boats Due In Hawaii

Two Marin County skippers are expected to set sight on Diamond Head sometime tomorrow when they wind up their trek across the Pacific in Honolulu if their predictions are right.

Bud Lowrie and Robert Evju of San Rafael both predicted that they would finish in about 14 days in the biennial Trans-Pacific Yacht race. If they're right, they'll be in Honolulu tomorrow.

Lowrie entered his 44-foot yacht "Islander" and "Evju," a San Rafael wood products manufacturer, made his bid with "Punahale." His sailing master is Rolf Croker, president of Pacific Coast Title Company in San Rafael.

Four boats had completed the 2,225-mile jaunt as of this morning the 13th day of the race.

STORMVOGEL WINS

The 73-foot ketch Stormvogel a seasoned veteran of ocean racing, arrived far ahead of the pack at midnight Saturday but with a small handicap cannot win any corrected time honors.

Serena, a San Francisco boat, came in yesterday morning followed by Kiloa II and Audacious.

Audacious, a 73-foot yawl, did not break radio silence until she sailed to within a few miles of the finish. She looks to be a sure Class A corrected time winner with a time of nine days, 14 hours, 21 minutes and 35 seconds, nearly four hours better than Stormvogel.

SILENT SKIPPER

Al Cassel, skipper of the Audacious explained that he raced a silent race because of the beleif that it was the best offense against not only Class A boats but also the lower rate boats in Classes B through C.

'W'e announced before the start that we would sail our own race," Cassel said. "We did report our position Friday in plenty of time for our host in Honolulu to make necessary arrangements for our arrival."

Although he has no chance for corrected time honors, Stormvogel skipper Bruyn Cornelius Bruyzell was jubiliant.

"We are first to finish at Honolulu. That is what we wanted." he said.

San Rafael Braves Have Hot Time Beating Ukiah, Blazes

The crisp San Rafael Braves won four out of five in Ukiah Saturday and yesterday.

They're sitting pretty on top of the coastal division of the Western Baseball Association, ready to take on any challengers, including any stray earthquakes, tidal waves and maybe the Viet Cong.

In yet another illustrious battle-scarred weekend played in 100-plus temperatures, the Braves fattened their WBA record to 14-5 by taking the luckless Ukiah Merchants two out of three and went undefeated in unscheduled bouts against a forest fire and a lumber yard blaze.

EASY VICTORIES

The two baseball victories came easily enough, 8-5 in Saturday's opener and 8-0 in the first game of yesterday's double-header.

Things started getting hot prior to the start of the second game yesterday, when what local residents termed a "controlled fire" blazed up in the nearby redwoods.

The Braves dropped glove and bats and helped subdue the fire, which San Rafael manager Joe Anselmo described as "telephone pole high." Four other Braves joined local fire fighters in battling a warehouse fire and returned to their teammates just in time to lose a 10-9 slugfest in the nightcap.

JERRY BOSCH
Brave firefighter

The loss didn't hurt too much, although it was a dubious one. It was the Merchants' first league win of the season.

Rich Jeffries blazed almost as hot as the fires in helping the Braves to their seventh straight series victory. The sparkplug second baseman went eight for eleven, upping his average a fat 62 points to .442, tops among the regulars. He also drove in five runs, rapped a homer, triple and two doubles in the three-game series.

Jeffries helped win the opener with four hits while ex-Drake High star Bob Tobin picked up the win in relief with two innings of no-hit hurling. Jay Widmer, former San Rafael High standout, led Ukiah with a three-run double.

SECOND STRAIGHT

Marin Catholic's sparkling alumnus Ben Burch whipped effortlessly to his second straight shutout, an eight-hit, six-strikeout performance that pushed his record to 6-1 and contribute two hits in the Braves 8-0 win in the first game of the yesterday's double-header.

Burch got all the help he needed from Jerry Bosch who hac perfect four-for-four game. Bosch later came back from the forest fire with a slightly darker shade of eyebrows.

But that win, and the two decisions over fire proved too much for the Braves. The long overdue Merchants finally won very late yesterday.

Sweep For Novatans In Legion Baseball

Timmel extended his scoreless inning streak to 17 and Novato allowed nothing but blanks over the weekend, pushing its league record to 10-3 with three straight shutout victories.

Timmel started and ended the triple whitewashing, blanking Vallejo Post 550 at Novato on a nine-inning two-hitter Saturday, 7-0, and whipping Vacaville, 9-0, on a seven-inning three-hitter in yesterday's nightcap at Vacaville.

Both pitchers got the kind of support that makes hurling a pleasure.

Paul Lee went four for five Saturday, drove in three runs and belted a homer in Novato's 10-hit attack.

In yesterday's first game, Frank Perachiotti, Mike Ferretti and McNally each went two-for-four in an eight, hit attack. In the nightcap Lee blasted another homer and Perachiotti went three-for-four, giving his six singles in the three-game set. Tom Corder had three hits and Tom Thomas two as Novato got 13 hits.

The three-game binge gave Novato a one-game lead over Vallejo Post 104,. The two teams collide Sunday at Novato High School at 1:30 p.m.

Belvedere Skipper Wins 26-Mile Race

Scotty McLean of the Belvedere Yacht Club brought his 30-foot sloop Kittiwake in first yesterday in the 26-mile Aeolian Y.C. Lightship Race. His time was 4 hours 41 minutes 53 seconds.

FIRST TO FINISH — The 53-foot yacht Stormvogel passes through searchlight-splashed finish line in Honolulu Saturday night to end the Trans-Pacific Race in corrected time of 9 days, 18 hours, 2 minutes and 49 seconds. First to reach Hawaii, Stormvogel finished seven hours ahead of second-place Serena of San Francisco. (UPI Telephoto)

Novato Wins Ruth League Tournament

The Novato All-Stars blanked Central Marin 3-0 Saturday afternoon to win the Babe Ruth Baseball League sectional tournament at Santa Rosa and earn a berth in the district playoff at Vacaville.

Novato plays Vacaville tonight in the first game of this tourney. The only other team there is the Vallejo National League. All Babe Ruth League tournaments are double elimination. The winner at Vacaville will play in the Northern California regional tourney at Auburn starting Friday.

Novato ran out another pitcher yesterday and he did as well as the previous starters for the northern Marin club. Tom Zechlin hurled a three-hitter at Central Marin in outpitching Tom Wickert, who allowed just one earned run.

Novato had won earlier games at Santa Rosa behind the pitching of Russ Dillon and Glen Holsclaw.

Services Wednesday For Wilbur Johns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A memorial service is scheduled Wednesday for Wilbur Johns, former athletic director at UCLA.

Johns, who enrolled as a UCLA student in 1921 and served as a trainer and coach before becoming athletic director died Friday at his home. He was 64.

Uncle Sam 'Loaded' For Pan-Am Games

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — "This team will do very well in Winnipeg, even without some good sprinters. Who's going to stop us?"

That was the appraisal today by Head Coach Cornelius (Dutch) Warmerdam of the freshly-selected United States track and field squad heading soon for the fifth Pan-American Games at Winnipeg, Can., July 23-Aug. 5.

Actually, the 47-member men's squad and 23-member women's team determined after last weekend's trials at the University of Minnesota won't get into Pan-Am action until July 29 —two weeks hence.

"This is a very good team, I don't see any weaknesses in it," said Warmerdam, pole-vaulting great of the bamboo pole era.

"There weren't any real disappointments in the trials—just some upsets, like Jim Grelle failing to make it in the 1,500 meters.

"We're missing some good sprinters—you know who they are, but that can't be helped."

Dutch was referring to such sprinters as Tommie Smith, Charlie Greene and Jim Hines, who for one reason or another, skipped the 17-event trials from which peerless miler Jim Ryun also absented himself.

At that, this may be the strongest track array Uncle Sam has sent into the Pan-Am Games which are a hemispheric preview of the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

In the weekend trials, existing Pan-Am records were handily surpassed in 13 of the 17 men's events and in six of the nine women's events.

Most noteworthy was a world record-matching performance by Southern California's NCAA champion, Earl McCulloch, who yesterday won the 110-meter high hurdles in 13.2.

McCulloch, a fine Trojan flanker back in football, whipped National AAU champion Willie Davenport by four yards as he equalled the world mark set by Germany's Martin Lauer in 1959 and matched by the USA's Lee Calhoun in 1960.

The 30-year-old Grelle, pegged the best Pan-Am 1,500 meter fill-in for Ryun, was elbowed out of a berth by Tom Von Ruden, ex-Oklahoma State star, and Kent State's Sam Bair, both clocked in the modest time of 3:49.8.

Another 1963 Pan-Am champ who failed to make it was high jumper Gene Johnson, who yielded to Arizona's Ed Caruthers (7-2) and Nevada's Otis Burrell (7-0). Johnson was third at 6-10.

Befitting an old polevaulter, Coach Warmerdam takes probably the world's two best vaulters to Winnipeg. The pair, Southern California's Paul Wil-

MAYS IMPROVING, MAY MAKE THE TRIP EAST

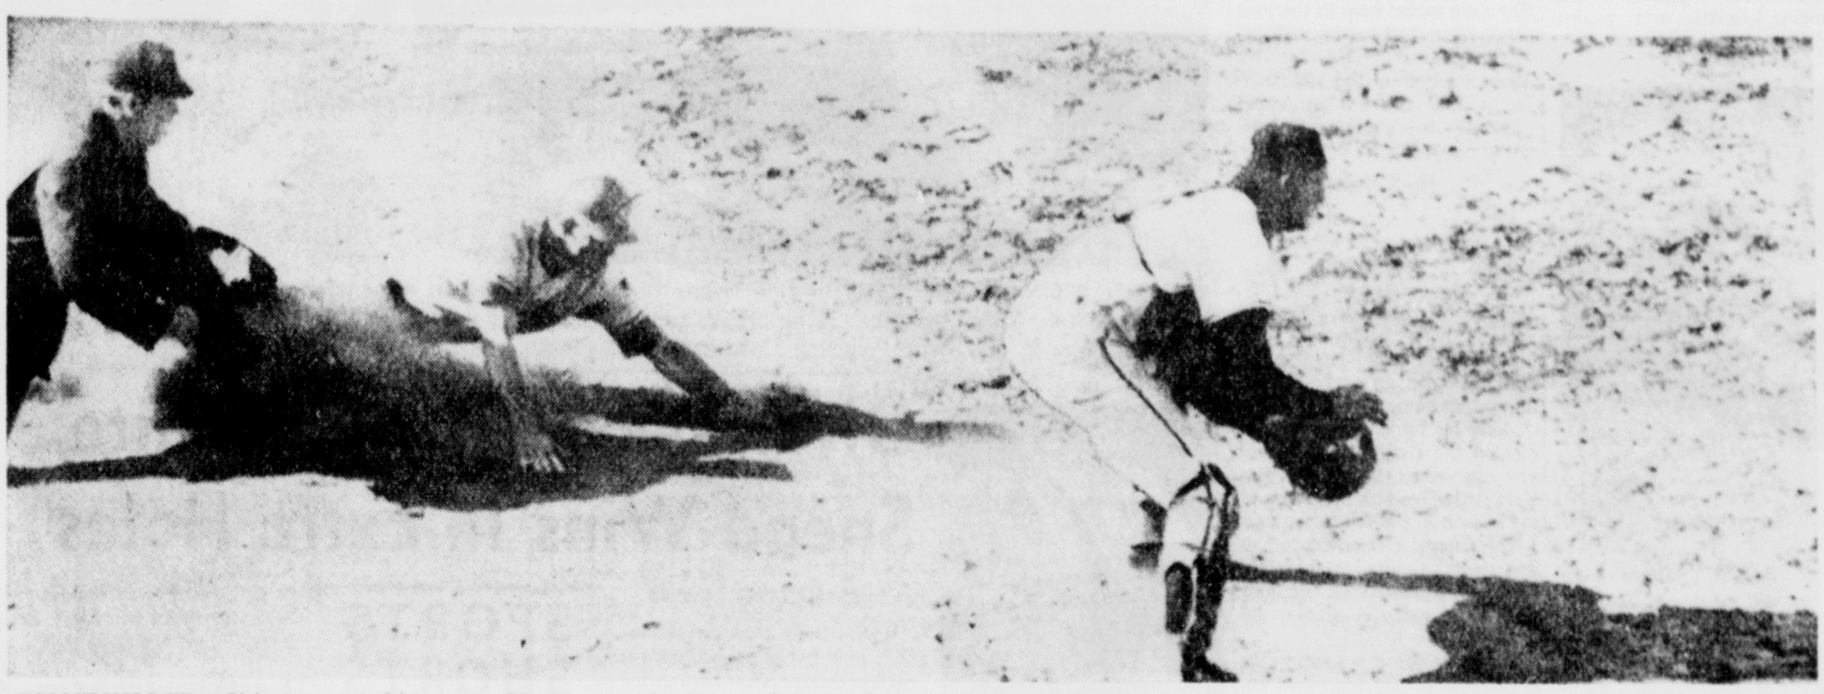
Willie Mays may rejoin the Giants tongiht after spending the weekend in a San Francisco hospital recovering from a reported case of the flu.

Giant publicist Garry Shumaker said today, "We're hoping he can make the trip tonight, but there's no way of knowing yet. It's up to the doctors."

The Giants fly to Pittsburgh tonight to begin a short road trip that has them scheduled for eight games in six days there and in Chicago.

Meanwhile, St. Louis lost pitching ace Bob Gibson for a month or more after he suffered a broken leg Saturday in a loss to Pittsburgh.

Cubs' Pennant Hopes Rekindled After Sweep



GIANT KILLER—Chicago second baseman Glenn Beckert dives headlong across home plate with winning run in second game of yesterday's doubleheader at Candlestick Park. Beckert scored on sacrifice fly by Ron Santo for 3-2 margin as Giant catcher Tom Haller took late throw from right-fielder Jesus Alou. (AP Wirephoto)

Both pitchers got the kind of support that makes hurling a pleasure.

Paul Lee went four for five Saturday, drove in three runs and belted a homer in Novato's 10-hit attack.

In yesterday's first game, Frank Perachiotti, Mike Ferretti and McNally each went two-for-four in an eight, hit attack. In the nightcap Lee blasted another homer and Perachiotti went three-for-four, giving his six singles in the three-game set. Tom Corder had three hits and Tom Thomas two as Novato got 13 hits.

The three-game binge gave Novato a one-game lead over Vallejo Post 104.. The two teams collide Sunday at Novato High School at 1:30 p.m.

Novato Wins Ruth League Tournament

The Novato All-Stars blanked Central Marin 3-0 Saturday afternoon to win the Babe Ruth Baseball League sectional tournament at Santa Rosa and earn a berth in the district playoff at Vacaville.

Novato plays Vacaville tonight in the first game of this tourney. The only other team there is the Vallejo National League. All Babe Ruth League tournaments are double elimination. The winner at Vacaville will play in the Northern California regional tourney at Auburn starting Friday.

Novato ran out another pitcher yesterday and he did as well as the previous starters for the northern Marin club. Tom Zechlin hurled a three-hitter at Central Marin in outpitching Tom Wickert, who allowed just one earned run.

Trade Boomerangs, Cards Lose Ground

A few hours after being acquired by the Cardinals from New York yesterday, the lefthander was pounded for seven hits and five runs in the two innings he worked as his former teammates swept a doubleheader 2-1 and 8-5.

The two losses cut the Cardinals' lead in the National League to two games over the Chicago Cubs, who won both ends of a doubleheader from the San Francisco Giants 9-0 and 3-2.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phillies pounded out 14 hits to beat the Cincinnati Reds 8-0, Mack Jones singled home the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the Houston Astros swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 and 8-2.

Ed Kranepool, who had gone hitless in his last 17 times at bat, broke out of his slump by blasting two homers and driving in five runs for the Mets. He won the first game with a two-run homer in the seventh inning and sparked a five-run rally in the fifth inning of the nightcap by smashing a homer with Tommy Davis on base.

Eddie Mathews and Jim Wynn homered to propel the Astros to an 8-2 victory in the nightcap and Ron Davis doubled home two runs during a three-run rally in the sixth inning of the first game against Los Angeles.

BANKS SINGS AND SWINGS, CUBS SWEEP

17 homers, Williams has 15 and Phillips, who hit the first grandslam of his career in Sunday's first game victory, has 14.

Bank's first homer was a three-run shot off loser Gaylord Perry in the first inning of the opener. His second blast was a two-run homer in the second inning of the nightcap — the only hit off starter Ron Herbel until the ninth inning.

"I was surprised I had so much stuff in the late innings," offered Herbel, who hadn't started a game since May 15. "I just made a mistake by giving Banks a fast ball down the pipe."

Chicago gave winning pitcher Ray Culp added help in the first game when first baseman Willie McCovey's error led to five unearned runs in the sixth inning — four of them on Adolfo Phillips' first major league grand slam.

SQUARES RECORD

Don Kessinger's single and Ron Santo's double closed the scoring in the seventh inning. Culp, who scattered six hits, squared his record at 7-7.

Banks' homer following a walk to Santo gave rookie righthander Bill Stoneman an early lead in the second game. The youngster, making his major league debut, yielded the Giants' first run of the day when hot-hitting Jim Hart ripped his 18th home run of the season in the fourth inning.

The Giants' chased Stoneman and tied the game in the sixth inning on Jesus Alou's single, a sacrifice and a single by McCovey.

WINNING PITCHER

"Now just look at those four pitchers," said Banks, "and throw in Rich Nye and Joe Niekro and you get a pretty good idea of why we are playing so well. These are all youngsters, who throw hard and want to win. With that kind of an attitude I don't see any reason why we won't be in the race all the way."

"Hell, I feel so great" he quipped, "I could go out there and try for three victories in one day right now."

Indian Valleyans Strengthen Lead

Indian Valley Lumber Co., alias Redwood High School, tightened its already firm grip on the Joe DiMaggio Baseball League lead with a 13-7 trashing of San Anselmo in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader at San Anselmo.

Indian Valley's win was its sixth without a loss and was highlighted by Kenny Johnson's fifth homer in six games. Johnson, an all-Marin County Athletic League shortstop, connected with one in the fourth.

Larry Nelson's two-run single in the sixth inning gave San Rafael its first win of the season and leveled Marin Cleaners record at 3-3.

KATHY WHITWORTH
Dramatic putt

Golf Drama As Whitworth Wins Title

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Kathy Whitworth of Monahans, Tex., was back in a familiar role today as leader of the Ladies Professional Golf Association winnings list.

The leading gal golfer in earnings ofr the past two years, Miss Whitworth scrambled past Susie Maxwell yesterday back into first place when she won the $17,500 LPGA title at Pleasant Valley Country Club. It meant $2,625 for Miss Whitworth and gave her more than $14,850 in prize money for the year.

The tall Texan dropped in a dramatic 45-foot birdie putt on the par five, 501-yard 18th hole to edge Shirley Englehorn of Cauldwell, Idaho, by a single stroke.

Miss Whitworth fire a four-under par 69 — the same score she had on the opening round over the plush 6-200-yard layout —and finished with 284. Miss Englehorn had a final round 70.

BIGGEST THRILL

"It's my biggest thrill in golf," the champion said later. "I figured I needed that birdie and I was determined to give it every chance."

She led or tied for the lead in each round.

Finished third was little Clifford Ann Creed with a final round one-over-par 74 and an overall 290. Carol Mann was fourth at 291 and four-time LPGA champ Mickey Wright finished fifth, another stroke back.

Sohner Team Scores Win In Tourney

Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo is one of four teams to survive opening play without a loss in the double-elimination District Softball Tournament in Santa Rosa this weekend.

After drawing a first-round bye, Sohner clubbed Lady Lea Salon of San Rafael 6-2 yesterday to join Tuttle's Pharmacy, Coast Merchants, and Francis Realty in the unbeaten ranks.

Trade Boomerangs, Cards Lose Ground

By WILLIAM VERIGAN
UPI Sports Writer

A few hours after being acquired by the Cardinals from New York yesterday, the lefthander was pounded for seven hits and five runs in the two innings he worked as his former teammates swept a doubleheader 2-1 and 8-5.

The two losses cut the Cardinals' lead in the National League to two games over the Chicago Cubs, who won both ends of a doubleheader from the San Francisco Giants 9-0 and 3-2.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phillies pounded out 14 hits to beat the Cincinnati Reds 8-0, Mack Jones singled home the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the Houston Astros swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 and 8-2.

Ed Kranepool, who had gone hitless in his last 17 times at bat, broke out of his slump by blasting two homers and driving in five runs for the Mets. He won the first game with a two-run homer in the seventh inning and sparked a five-run rally in the fifth inning of the nightcap by smashing a homer with Tommy Davis on base.

Lamabe, who has lost four straight, was the victim of Kranepool's second homer.

Eddie Mathews and Jim Wynn homered to propel the Astros to an 8-2 victory in the nightcap and Ron Davis doubled home two runs during a three-run rally in the sixth inning of the first game against Los Angeles.

BANKS SINGS AND SWINGS, CUBS SWEEP

17 homers, Williams has 15 and Phillips, who hit the first grandslam of his career in Sunday's first game victory, has 14.

Bank's first homer was a three-run shot off loser Gaylord Perry in the first inning of the opener. His second blast was a two-run homer in the second inning of the nightcap — the only hit off starter Ron Herbel until the ninth inning.

"I was surprised I had so much stuff in the late innings," offered Herbel, who hadn't started a game since May 15. "I just made a mistake by giving Banks a fast ball down the pipe."

Chicago gave winning pitcher Ray Culp added help in the first game when first baseman Willie McCovey's error led to five unearned runs in the sixth inning — four of them on Adolfo Phillips' first major league grand slam.

SQUARES RECORD

Don Kessinger's single and Ron Santo's double closed the scoring in the seventh inning. Culp, who scattered six hits, squared his record at 7-7.

Banks' homer following a walk to Santo gave rookie righthander Bill Stoneman an early lead in the second game. The youngster, making his major league debut, yielded the Giants' first run of the day when hot-hitting Jim Hart ripped his 18th home run of the season in the fourth inning.

The Giants' chased Stoneman and tied the game in the sixth inning on Jesus Alou's single, a sacrifice and a single by McCovey.

WINNING PITCHER

"Now just look at those four pitchers," said Banks, "and throw in Rich Nye and Joe Niekro and you get a pretty good idea of why we are playing so well. These are all youngsters, who throw hard and want to win. With that kind of an attitude I don't see any reason why we won't be in the race all the way."

At his age some might wonder how Banks could play doubleheaders, but Ernie felt so good he passed off the question with a little dance step and a smile.

"Hell, I feel so great" he quipped, "I could go out there and try for three victories in one day right now."

Indian Valleyans Strengthen Lead

Indian Valley Lumber Co., alias Redwood High School, tightened its already firm grip on the Joe DiMaggio Baseball League lead with a 13-7 trashing of San Anselmo in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader at San Anselmo.

Indian Valley's win was its sixth without a loss and was highlighted by Kenny Johnson's fifth homer in six games. Johnson, an all-Marin County Athletic League shortstop, connected with one in the fourth.

Larry Nelson's two-run single in the sixth inning gave San Rafael its first win of the season and leveled Marin Cleaners record at 3-3.

Sohner Team Scores Win In Tourney

Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo is one of four teams to survive opening play without a loss in the double-elimination District Softball Tournament in Santa Rosa this weekend.

After drawing a first-round bye, Sohner clubbed Lady Lea Salon of San Rafael 6-2 yesterday to join Tuttle's Pharmacy, Coast Merchants, and Francis Realty in the unbeaten ranks.

Lady Lea, Marin's only other representative in the 10-team tourney, earned the right to play arch-rival Sohner by upsetting Sebastopol Merchants, 1-0, behind Bob Brown's stellar pitching Saturday night.

But Sohner wasted little time in jumping on Brown yesterday with hits by Milt Hain and Ron Jerome highlighting a five-run first-inning outburst.

Morey Swarm, almost fully recovered after suffering a ruptured appendix in early May, limited the losers to only two hits while striking out seven.

Howie Bottini's two-run homer in the fourth accounted for both Lady Lea runs.

A fine 5,000-meter victory was fashioned yesterday by Van Nelson of St. Cloud (Minn.) State, winning in 13:48.6, a half-minute faster than the Pan-Am record.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Growth Is Best At Younger Age

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 25 and have accumulated the following list of stocks: Corn Products; FMC Corp.; General Motors; M.M.M.; Honeywell; Southern Co.; Westinghouse; Northern Illinois Gas. My objective is to maximize capital gains. Does my portfolio seem in line with this objective?" R.H.

A. It is a pleasure to help an intelligent and ambitious young man like yourself to attain his objective. You hold a good list of stocks, all of which are well situated for growth. In some instances, though, the growth outlook is more modest than seems desirable for a person in your situation. At your age, I would disregard income and strive for stronger growth with the full knowledge that in doing so you are assuming a greater degree of market risk.

Corn Products, FMC and Honeywell have slowed down this year, partly because of higher labor costs. In your situation, I would prefer Consolidated Foods, Baxter Laboratories and Litton Industries. Westinghouse Electric has shown no real price progress for the past decade and I would switch this stock into Green Giant. Your remaining stocks, including the utilities, have an excellent long-term potential in my opinion and I would retain them.

Q. "I am a housewife with three children. My husband has a seasonal job and we can't afford to invest much money. We could invest about $200 at this time. Can you suggest a good stock that pays dividends in the winter when his work is not steady?" R.G.

A. I understand and have considerable sympathy for your situation. With the exception of a few which pay monthly, all stocks pay dividends quarterly and would not be of much help in meeting your particular needs. The income you might derive from a $200 stock purchase would be relatively little and your commission costs comparatively high. I believe your money belongs in a savings institution where you can withdraw the interest as needed and where your principal will be secure.

Gains, Losses About Even On Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—Gains and losses were about even as the stock market closed today in active trading.

Volume for the first four hours was 7.69 million shares compared with 7.86 million for the like period Friday.

While some copper stocks reacted to the strike in the copper industry, a number of nonferrous metal companies advanced on news of the removal of the government ceiling on the price of silver.

Gains of around a point or better were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher.

Commerce Is Shaping New Low-Key Look

By JOHN CUNIFF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Secretary of Commerce, Alexander Trowbridge, would feel a lot more able to fulfill the department's role as an administration link with business if he could draft a few industrialists.

At least four top-level jobs are open or about to open in the Commerce Department. And Trowbridge, 37, therefore, is spending a lot more time staffing his department than he would like.

STEADY ATTACK

Nevertheless, the athletic-looking former oil executive is developing a program that associates say he hopes will produce results, not through fanfare but from a steady, low-key attack by working an 8:15 a.m. to 7 p.m. day.

The first problem under attack, and perhaps the most important, is relations with business. Trowbridge is now attempting to develop a personal rapport with the business community, which likes to believe the department is its voice in administration councils. For a man of Trowbridge's articulateness, graciousness and ability, this might not be as difficult a job as forecast.

The new secretary—he was designated acting secretary in January and promoted in May—has planned a series of conferences with industrialists, the first of which was with those in the metals industry. Another is scheduled later this month with the chemical executives.

THE STAFF

These conferences will be held in the Commerce Department building and ideally will include Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and other key administration figures.

"There are lots of different ways of doing this job, and this is one of them," Trowbridge said in an interview in his office. "Our purpose is to talk in a dispassionate way about industry's problems. And we try also to discuss our broad-scale economic problems."

This, Trowbridge says, is one way of fulfilling the department's charter of giving responsible representation of government to business and of representing business in government.

Such conferences, when held in the past, have been known to tone down considerably the critics of administration economic policy. And by putting the meetings on a regular schedule, Trowbridge hopes to magnify the result.

A particular interest of Trowbridge is in formulating a policy for what he believes is a billion-dollar opportunity for American business, the attack on public problems by private enterprise.

SOME PROBLEMS

These "public-problem" areas include pollution, urban redevelopment, education, transportation, recreation, health care, poverty. In all these areas, he feels, industry can combine the social good with good profits.

"Many people see these problems as being so big and complex that they cannot be solved without an assault by both private and public sectors," he says.

Regardless of the mix, however, he believes "there are profits to be made."

Trowbridge says we are "beginning to think of our role" in this emerging trend. At the moment, however, the role is being pursued through "exhortation" in speeches, personal meetings and conferences.

Auto Parts Firm Will Open Branch In Industrial Park

Kenneth Lax has leased 5,000 square feet at 61 Paul Drive through William Hoey of Dohemann and Co. The new store, handling both wholesale and retail sales, will be called Northgate Auto Parts. It will be managed by Denver Wilson of Novato.

Equipment is now being installed and the store should be completely in business by the end of the month.

PAUL CIAMPI, who, with his son Norman now in the business is spending about as much time putting up new industrial buildings as he does at his beer distributorship, began another project last week at Verdi and Market streets, San Rafael.

This is a four-building complex totaling more than 12,000 square feet. Buildings have concrete and steel walls, heavy duty concrete and steel floors and clear spans with no interior posts. Also large aluminum and glass offices, tile floors, heating, large roll-up doors, interior glass skylights, off street parking in front and landscaping. Etienne Rolin is construction engineer and designer.

Two of the four buildings are spoken for. Bruce Shafer of Edgewater Properties is leasing agent. Completion should be about the middle of September.

MORE CHANGES in management of Sierra National Bank offices in Marin have been made at Kentfield and Corte Madera.

Bruce A. Griesman now heads the Kentfield operation. A native of Chicago, he was five years with Bank of America as an auditor before joining Sierra.

Griesman Edwards

Edward P. Edwards is new manager at the Corte Madera branch. He is a native of England and served nine years as a time plan lending officer with Bank of America before coming with Sierra.

COVER STORY in the July issue of Western Livestock Journal was written by John R. Pitcairn of Ross. His article, "Computer Feeding for Finishing Cattle," describes the successful installation of a computer system for a Colorado cattle feeding company.

SAN FRANCISCO architectural firm Backen, Arrigoni, Ross and Lagier, which counts Howard Backen and Bruce Ross as Tiburon residents and Robert Arrigoni as a dweller in Fairfax, has been chosen to design the $150,000 Douglas County Museum at Roseburg, Ore. Closer projects are a two-million dollar apartment complex in Campbell and an apartment-office building in Belmont.

INSURANCE. Alex S. Consagra of Novato has been appointed district manager at the Santa Rosa office of Equitable Life Insurance Society, replacing Earl Bogardus, who has been transferred to San Rafael. . . . Ardis Davis, personnel manager for California Blue Shield, has been elected president of the San Francisco Personnel Management Association, replacing Joe Miller of Liberty Mutual. . . . Hubbard E. Newlin of San Anselmo has been named Agent of the Month by American General Life for six consecutive months, ending June 30.

REAL ESTATE. Bernice Andron of Sausalito, Maryette V. Carrico of San Rafael and Elizabeth (Beth) Levin of San Rafael were awarded University of California Extension certificates in real estate this spring. Mrs. Andron is with Langsam Realty in Sausalito; Mrs. Carrico operates Carrico Realty, San Rafael, and Mrs. Levin is with the San Rafael office of Nipper and Marchant.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 25 and have accumulated the following list of stocks: Corn Products; FMC Corp.; General Motors; M.M.M.; Honeywell; Southern Co.; Westinghouse; Northern Illinois Gas. My objective is to maximize capital gains. Does my portfolio seem in line with this objective?" R.H.

A. It is a pleasure to help an intelligent and ambitious young man like yourself to attain his objective. You hold a good list of stocks, all of which are well situated for growth. In some instances, though, the growth outlook is more modest than seems desirable for a person in your situation. At your age, I would disregard income and strive for stronger growth with the full knowledge that in doing so you are assuming a greater degree of market risk.

Corn Products, FMC and Honeywell have slowed down this year, partly because of higher labor costs. In your situation, I would prefer Consolidated Foods, Baxter Laboratories and Litton Industries. Westinghouse Electric has shown no real price progress for the past decade and I would switch this stock into Green Giant. Your remaining stocks, including the utilities, have an excellent long-term potential in my opinion and I would retain them.

Q. "I am a housewife with three children. My husband has a seasonal job and we can't afford to invest much money. We could invest about $200 at this time. Can you suggest a good stock that pays dividends in the winter when his work is not steady?" R.G.

A. I understand and have considerable sympathy for your situation. With the exception of a few which pay monthly, all stocks pay dividends quarterly and would not be of much help in meeting your particular needs. The income you might derive from a $200 stock purchase would be relatively little and your commission costs comparatively high. I believe your money belongs in a savings institution where you can withdraw the interest as needed and where your principal will be secure.

Gains, Losses About Even On Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—Gains and losses were about even as the stock market closed today in active trading.

Stocks rose from the start despite softness in rail shares as they reacted to the nationwide railroad strike.

Rails recovered on balance. Hope increased that Congress would take prompt action to end the strike.

Volume for the first four hours was 7.69 million shares compared with 7.86 million for the like period Friday.

While some copper stocks reacted to the strike in the copper industry, a number of nonferrous metal companies advanced on news of the removal of the government ceiling on the price of silver.

Steels resumed their advance of Friday. Rubbers advanced. Autos were higher on balance, with Chrysler up more than 2.

Gains of around a point or better were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin.

Commerce Is Shaping New Low-Key Look

By JOHN CUNIFF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Secretary of Commerce, Alexander Trowbridge, would feel a lot more able to fulfill the department's role as an administration link with business if he could draft a few industrialists.

At least four top-level jobs are open or about to open in the Commerce Department. And Trowbridge, 37, therefore, is spending a lot more time staffing his department than he would like.

STEADY ATTACK

Nevertheless, the athletic-looking former oil executive is developing a program that associates say he hopes will produce results, not through fanfare but from a steady, low-key attack by working an 8:15 a.m. to 7 p.m. day.

The first problem under attack, and perhaps the most important, is relations with business. Trowbridge is now attempting to develop a personal rapport with the business community, which likes to believe the department is its voice in administration councils. For a man of Trowbridge's articulateness, graciousness and ability, this might not be as difficult a job as forecast.

The new secretary—he was designated acting secretary in January and promoted in May—has planned a series of conferences with industrialists, the first of which was with those in the metals industry. Another is scheduled later this month with the chemical executives.

THE STAFF

These conferences will be held in the Commerce Department building and ideally will include Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and other key administration figures.

"There are lots of different ways of doing this job, and this is one of them," Trowbridge said in an interview in his office. "Our purpose is to talk in a dispassionate way about industry's problems. And we try also to discuss our broad-scale economic problems."

This, Trowbridge says, is one way of fulfilling the department's charter of giving responsible representation of government to business and of representing business in government.

Such conferences, when held in the past, have been known to tone down considerably the critics of administration economic policy. And by putting the meetings on a regular schedule, Trowbridge hopes to magnify the result.

A particular interest of Trowbridge is in formulating a policy for what he believes is a billion-dollar opportunity for American business, the attack on public problems by private enterprise.

SOME PROBLEMS

These "public-problem" areas include pollution, urban redevelopment, education, transportation, recreation, health care, poverty. In all these areas, he feels, industry can combine the social good with good profits.

"Many people see these problems as being so big and complex that they cannot be solved without an assault by both private and public sectors," he says.

Regardless of the mix, however, he believes "there are profits to be made."

Trowbridge says we are "beginning to think of our role" in this emerging trend. At the moment, however, the role is being pursued through "exhortation" in speeches, personal meetings and conferences.

Auto Parts Firm Will Open Branch In Industrial Park

Kenneth Lax has leased 5,000 square feet at 61 Paul Drive through William Hoey of Dohemann and Co. The new store, handling both wholesale and retail sales, will be called Northgate Auto Parts. It will be managed by Denver Wilson of Novato.

Equipment is now being installed and the store should be completely in business by the end of the month.

PAUL CIAMPI, who, with his son Norman now in the business is spending about as much time putting up new industrial buildings as he does at his beer distributorship, began another project last week at Verdi and Market streets, San Rafael.

This is a four-building complex totaling more than 12,000 square feet. Buildings have concrete and steel walls, heavy duty concrete and steel floors and clear spans with no interior posts. Also large aluminum and glass offices, tile floors, heating, large roll-up doors, interior glass skylights, off street parking in front and landscaping. Etienne Rolin is construction engineer and designer.

Two of the four buildings are spoken for. Bruce Shafer of Edgewater Properties is leasing agent. Completion should be about the middle of September.
